

CLASH

Between Cossacks and Japanese

LATTER'S HORSES KILLED BY THE RUSSIANS

And the Japs Were Forced to Flee on Foot.

MAIN ARMY OF THE JAPANESE

Is Not Yet In Korea It Is Claimed To-Day—Russians Liberate Prisoners on Condition.

LONDON, MARCH 15.—(BULLETIN)—PORT ARTHUR CORRESPONDENT OF THE CENTRAL NEWS TO-DAY REPORTS A SKIRMISH BETWEEN COSSACKS AND JAPANESE CAVALRY ON THE BANKS OF THE YALU RIVER. THE JAPANESE HORSES WERE KILLED AND THE JAPANESE WERE FORCED TO FLEE ON FOOT.

ARMY STILL IN JAPAN.

Chifu, China, March 15.—It is today reported here that the bulk of the Japanese land forces are still in Japan, despite reports to the contrary. Those in Korea are merely stationed there for garrison purposes and to hold Russians in check along the Yalu river. The main army is destined for some point along the Liao Tung gulf. The Japanese are not willing to risk taking their transports through the comparatively narrow water between here and Port Arthur until Admiral Togo finally succeeds in bottling the Russian fleet at the latter place.

TO FREE PRISONERS.

St. Petersburg, March 15.—A dispatch received today states that Victor Alexieff has ordered the immediate liberation and arming of all convicts on the Island of Saghalien just north of the Japanese island of Yezo, who are willing to enroll and help defend the island against a Japanese attack which is thought to be imminent.

RUSSIAN CRUISER DAMAGED

Yin Kow, China, March 15.—(Bulletin)—A foreigner, who has arrived here from Port Arthur, reports that a short engagement occurred off that place on Sunday last in which the Russian cruiser Diana was damaged.

DID FLEET ESCAPE?

London, March 15.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company, dated Tokio 3:15 this morning, states that persistent reports are current there that the Russian fleet left Port Arthur after the attack by the Japanese on March 10, and is now endeavoring to reach Vladivostok.

WITH AMERICAN REFUGEES.

Washington, March 15.—The navy department received word today that the cruiser Cincinnati had returned to Chemulpo from Chinnampo, Korea, with 23 American refugees.

JAP WOMAN STABS HERSELF THAT SON CAN GO TO WAR

Tokio, March 15.—A Japanese woman at Takasaki, learning that her only son had been exempted from active service, on the ground that she was dependent upon his earnings, has committed suicide. In a letter she stated that she was about to kill herself in order that her son might be free to fight for his fatherland. Then she plunged a dagger into her heart. Withdrawing the weapon, she handed it to her son, who immediately volunteered for active service.

Large numbers of ready-made cottages are being shipped to the Amazon from New York.

SUICIDE EPIDEMIC AMONG THE O. S. U. PROFESSORS

COLUMBUS, O., March 15.—Suicide has become epidemic among the professors at the Ohio State University. Charles Walter Mesloh, assistant professor of Germanic languages, killed himself this morning by taking some drug. He is the third Ohio State University professor to commit suicide within the past eighteen months. Professors Clark and Eggers were the others. Clark killed himself in his room and Eggers killed himself with a revolver on the college grounds. Mesloh was melancholy.

CITY BOARDS OF REVIEW.

Columbus, O., March 15.—The city boards of review of the state will not be disturbed. "The supreme court to-day held unconstitutional the Longworth act so far as providing for the appointment of there boards by the state board of appraisers, upon application of the auditor of the county in which the city is situated. Prosecutor Clyde L. Taylor, of Ashtabula county, attacked the constitutionality of the act and the decision today was given in that case. The Newark board of review consists of Messrs. L. P. Schaus, A. H. Rickert and E. S. Randolph. These men were appointed last year, Mr. Randolph for five years, Mr. Schaus for three and Mr. Rickert for one year.

A SERIOUS BLOW

To Immense Combinations of Capital—Other Concerns May be Proceeded Against—Four Jurists Dissent from Majority's Opinion.

New York, March 15.—Influential men in the financial district realize this morning that the decision of the supreme court in the Northern Securities company case is a serious blow to immense combinations of capital. Other alleged combinations such as the beef, sugar, coal, steel and oil trusts, as well as many big railroad companies, that have gobbled up competitors will it is believed, be eventually proceeded against.

As telegraphed to The Advocate yesterday afternoon the United States supreme court delivered an opinion in the merger case of The Northern Securities Company v. The United States, in favor of the government's contention, that the merger was illegal.

Four of the justices dissented from the five constituting the majority.

Very soon after Justice Harlan had concluded his presentation of the case it became evident that the court had divided on the questions at issue, and as other opinions were announced, it developed that there not only had been a very close shave for the government, but that one of the members of the court who cast his vote with the majority entertained opinions of his own, which fact rendered the decision all the more marked and interesting.

This was Justice Brewer, who, while he concurred in the result, announced in an independent opinion of his own that he held the view that previous anti-trust decisions had been more sweeping than was justified.

Four of the nine justices dissented outright. These were Chief Justice Fuller and Justices White, Peckham and Holmes.

The opinions of Justice Harlan and White were long, while those of Justices Brewer and Holmes were comparatively brief.

All told, the court consumed two hours and three-quarters in disposing of the case. The fact was noted by several persons that the argument in the case was begun Dec. 14, just three months previous to the decision.

For so important a case this is considered a very brief interval between the arguments and the decision.

Here is the court's judgment in brief:

A combination by means of this company was formed in restraint of commerce, violating the anti-trust act. The company monopolized or attempted to monopolize interstate commerce. When the effect of an agreement is to prevent competition the agreement is prohibited by the law. To prove that a combination exists within the meaning of the law, it is not necessary to show that the immediate effect is to suppress competition or to establish a monopoly. Ownership of a majority of its stock constitutes the control of a corporation.

KELCH STILL MISSING

Rejected Lover of Murdered Girl Believed to Have Killed Himself—Miss Matthews Was Buried At Ripley Today.

Ripley, O., March 15.—Coroner Gray and Dr. Hannah of Georgetown viewed the body of Miss Isa Matthews, who was found murdered in a well, Monday afternoon. Dr. Hannah also held a postmortem. Scratches on the forehead and the temple were the only marks of violence found, besides finger-prints on the neck and throat. Coroner Gray will render a verdict that the young woman was strangled to death in the yard of Mrs. Beasley and the body disposed of in the old well. The funeral of Miss Matthews was held today.

Joseph Kelch, the former lover of Miss Matthews, who is suspected of committing the murder, has not been located.

Kelch was in Ripley last Saturday and bought a revolver. According to a story that is told here Kelch and Miss Matthews quarreled because he was not permitted to stay in the home where she lived as late as night as he would have liked. He became so jealous of her that she returned his engagement ring. It is said that Kelch's family, on his mother's side, have been afflicted with insanity; two of them having committed suicide, and one having died in an insane asylum. "There is an impression here that Kelch committed suicide after placing the body in the well, and that his body will be found in some secluded spot in the vicinity of the crime.

IS FROZEN MEAT CAUSE OF CANCER?

London, March 15.—The question was raised in the house of commons yesterday whether frozen or chilled meat has any injurious effect on consumers, and especially whether such meat contributes to increasing the number of cases of cancer in the United Kingdom.

President Leno of the local government board said that while he had no information to the foregoing effect, he thought the matter might properly be referred to the royal commission of inquiry into the causes of cancer, which is now sitting.

CHINA REMAINS NEUTRAL

Washington, March 15.—Besides her general proclamation of neutrality, China has sent a special declaration to the United States to the effect that it is her purpose to remain neutral throughout the Russo-Japanese war.

VETO

Of Appropriation Bill for Negroes

GOVERNOR OF MISSISSIPPI GIVES HIS REASONS

Says System of Training Does No Good.

LEADS HIM TO AVOID LABOR.

"Sharpens His Cunning, Promotes Independence and in Turn Leads to Crime."

Jackson, Miss., March 15.—(Bulletin.)—Governor Vardaman has vetoed the appropriation bill for the state normal school, the negro institution at Holy Springs. He declared that the school does not give the proper kind of education for the negro and that the system of training does him no good. In the course of his lengthy veto the governor said: "Literary education, the knowledge of books, does not seem to produce any substantial results with the negro but serves rather to sharpen his cunning, breeds hopes that cannot be fulfilled, instills aspiration that cannot be gratified, creates an inclination to avoid honest labor, promotes independence and in turn leads to crime."

JURY

Finds an Indictment in the Murder of Miss Shafer.

Bedford, Ind., March 15.—The grand jury in the Sarah Shafer case returned two indictments against James McDonald, the first charging murder in the first degree and the second with criminal assault.

Bloomington, Ind., March 15.—When told of the finding of the grand jury, McDonald seemed surprised.

"I am not guilty," he said. When informed that he would have to return to Bedford and plead to the indictment, he said that it was all right with him and that he would as soon go there as anywhere.

Cashier Pleads Guilty.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—W. L. Collins, former cashier of the Indiana National Bank at Elkhart, pleaded guilty in the federal court. He will be sentenced later. He was indicted on 18 charges in connection with the failure of the bank. Former President Borderick's trial will begin today.

One Boat Missing.

Brisbane, Australia, March 15.—All but one of the six boats launched from the wrecked steamer Aramac off Sea Spit Island have been picked up by steamers sent in search of them.

MINERS

Are Today Voting on the Proposition of a Strike.

Indianapolis, March 15.—Today the soft coal miners vote "yes" or "no" on the strike. The opinion here is that the vote will be close. The impression is that western Pennsylvania will vote against the strike. Ohio is about evenly divided, as is Indiana, Illinois and Iowa are for a strike and Michigan is against a strike. Expresses from Kentucky, Mississippi and West Virginia have not been received from the recent convention. Legates from these places seemed willing to follow leaders Mitchell Lewis and Wilson. The polls will be open from noon to 6 p. m.

THE CITIZENS ALLIANCE TAKES HEROIC MEASURES

TELLURIDE, COLO., March 15.—One hundred members of the citizens alliance after a meeting last night, well armed, scoured the town and took into custody between 70 and 80 union men and sympathizers. In some instances doors were forced and broken open. The men were herded in a vacant store room until 2 o'clock this morning when all those desired had been captured. They were then marched to the station and loaded into two coaches. As the special train departed the citizens alliance fired a volley of shots into the air.

CAN'T FIND GLOVES BIG ENOUGH

Louisville, Ky., March 15.—Because no gloves can be found large enough for Julius Kremer, who is to be "best" man at Edward Barry's wedding, the ceremony must be postponed till "white kids" can be made to order. Kremer is a blacksmith, 23 years of age, and six feet, four inches tall. He has never worn gloves and has trouble getting his hands into his pockets. When Barry asked Kremer to be best man he started out to buy the gloves. At the first glove counter his mammoth hand was measured by a pretty shop girl, who told him she was sorry, but her line did not include No. 14. The young giant made the round of the furnishing stores and then tried the undertakers for cotton gloves, but failed to find his size. "I'll have to resign," he said to Barry, but Barry felt that he could not get married without Kremer being in the bridal party, so he agreed to postpone the wedding until the gloves could be obtained.

CLAIMS WING ERRED.

Attorney General Knox Brings Mandamus Proceedings Against Federal Judge Wing of Cleveland, Who is a Former Resident of Newark.

The following dispatch from Washington is of local interest in that it refers to Judge Francis J. Wing, a former Newark man who read law in this city.

Washington, March 15.—In the Supreme court the government of the United States, through Attorney General Knox, applied for a writ of mandamus to compel Judge Francis J. Wing of the United States district court of the Northern district of Ohio to take what the department of justice maintains is legal action with respect to certain Chinese exclusion cases.

This is the first time in the history of the supreme court that the government has sought a writ of mandamus against a federal judge.

In his application Attorney General Knox maintains that Judge Wing, in holding unconstitutional that part of the Chinese exclusion law which provides for the deportation of alien Chinese after a hearing before a United States commissioner, is proceeding contrary to decisions of the United States supreme court, and is preventing the deportation of Chinese who are unlawfully in the United States.

According to the petition of Attorney General Knox, the proceedings in Judge Wing's court are peculiar. Many Chinese exclusion cases have recently arisen in that district.

Chinese persons, said to be in this country unlawfully, were taken before United States Commissioner Simpson and by him were ordered deported. Their counsels then went before

HE RELEASED THE MEN.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 15.—Judge Wing recently released a number of Chinamen brought before him upon the charge of being in the United States unlawfully, on the ground that they had not been proven Chinese.

KISSED HIS FIVE WIVES

And Greeted 32 of His 42 Children Upon Arrival at Salt Lake--The Smiths Had Quite a Family Reunion.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 15.—Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, was welcomed by a family reunion Monday on his return from the Smoot inquiry at Washington.

His five wives and 32 of his 42 children awaited his coming at the beehive house. President Smith kissed Mrs. Julian Smith warmly and his embrace with Mrs. Enna Sampson Smith, sister of Julian, lasted four minutes.

Then he greeted his other wives fondly and kissed a few of the younger children. For about three hours there was a private family gathering in the beehive house, from which all but the immediate members of the president's five families were excluded.

After that was over the wives departed to their respective homes, where President Smith later paid a formal visit. In the meantime the twelve apostles and the council were Today's Nominations.

Washington March 15.—The President today sent to the Senate the following nominations: To be secretary of legations Henry W. Shoemaker of Ohio, at Lisbon, Portugal; Nelson Osharabnessy of New York at Copenhagen, Denmark; to be consul of U. S. Lewis A. Dent of District of Columbia at Dawson City, Yukon territory, Canada.

In House of Commons.

London, March 15.—The British government was defeated in the house of commons today by a vote of 141 to 179. The division came on a motion by Belmont against the rejection of the Irish educational estimates. The government is not inclined to take the vote seriously, claiming it to be a "snap division."

THREE

Killed By Explosion at Chicago

MANY OTHERS HURT BY THE DISASTER

In Novelty Company's Shop This Morning.

FOREMAN DROPPED TORPEDOES

Upon a Case of Toy Rifles and the Structure Collapsed With a Roar.

Chicago, March 15.—Three persons were killed, five seriously injured and a number of others slightly hurt by an explosion and fire which this morning destroyed the building of the Chicago Toy Novelty company at Western avenue and 18th street. The dead: Harry Gordon, foreman of the plant. Joe Zangowski and Alexek Blank, Polish boys, about 16 years old.

Seriously injured: Matilda Roffborough, a 17-year-old office girl; burned and bruised.

Frank Stuchyski, leg broken and injured.

T. W. Jacobson, burned; Elmer Wickstrom, badly burned.

Barney Shafer; cut and burned.

The accident is said to have been caused by Foreman Gordon when he picked up a box of torpedoes and dropped it on a case of toy rifles. The explosion of the torpedoes also detonated all the powder and other explosives in the building, 100 by 30 feet, and the structure collapsed amid a terrific roar. Gordon's body was recovered, but burned beyond recognition.

FORAKER SAYS

THAT HE IS GOING TO DO SOME DEMANDING, TOO.

Senator Replies to Gov. Herrick's Statement Regarding the Ohio Federal Patronage.

Washington, March 15.—After reading a full report of the meeting at the Tippecanoe club in Cleveland, Senator Foraker said:

"Governor Herrick reminds me of the Irishman who, when assured he would have justice said that was what he was afraid of. If I can only manage to secure for my friends one-half of the federal appointments in Ohio, I will be more than happy.

"If I were to have every appointment necessary to fill vacancies as they occur by expiration of terms of office, death, and removals for cause, it would be two or three years, may be five years, before I would get one-half or the number Governor Herrick intends to insist shall be allowed me.

"I am much obliged to him. I want just what he wants, and I can say with him, I am going to demand, too." Not that I care personally about it, but because I no longer will allow men to be discriminated against in the distribution of patronage simply because they happen to be my friends.

"Nobody has thought of treating General Buck otherwise than fairly. I am sure the president has not, and I am sure I have not. He will get a fair deal even if he does not get any of it."

Mr. Foraker called on the president today and the Ohio situation was discussed informally. The senator believes he has the president's sympathy in the present controversy.

Collector of Customs Ed Zuerhorst of Sandusky, arrived here yesterday. Senator Foraker says the collector is slated for dismissal, and the latter will wait until Senator-elect Dick arrives to enlist his aid.

Can you spell Egg-O-See

In a variety of ways. If you will try you can participate in the distribution of the prizes we offer for this, which aggregate

$1,000 IN CASH

Distributed as follows:

To the one sending the greatest variety of spellings	$100.00
To the second sending the greatest variety of spellings	50.00
To the third sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the fourth sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the fifth sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the sixth sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the seventh sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the eighth sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the ninth sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
To the tenth sending the greatest variety of spellings	25.00
Total	$1000.00

The prizes will be awarded immediately after the close of the contest. Anyone can compete and all have an equal chance of securing one of the big prizes.

The only conditions are that you send in for each five different ways of spelling the word Egg-O-See, one of the little folders, same as used in the school children's contest, found inside of each package of the food, and that you mail your list to the Egg-O-See Co., Quincy, Ill., on or before June 15, 1904. Be sure and write your name and address plainly. The spelling must be such as could properly be pronounced "Egg-O-See." The following are some of the ways the word could be spelled: Egg-O-Sea, Eg-Oh-Cy, Egg-O-Cee, Eg-O-Sie.

You will find the effort entertaining as well as profitable. The children will find it instructive, but older persons are not barred, and it is permissible to get help from others after you have spelled the word as many ways as you can yourself.

We are doing this so that the merits of Egg-O-See, the best of all flaked wheat foods may be more widely known. Physicians and food experts agree that flaked wheat is the most delicious and healthful of foods. Its good qualities are now universally recognized, and Egg-O-See is practically displacing all similar foods, as your grocer will tell you, because it is superior in quality and flavor, and yet a large package retails for 10 cents.

ASK YOUR GROCER FOR THE GREEN PACKAGE. If your grocer does not keep it, send us his name and 10 cents and we will send you a package, prepaid. Address all communications to Egg-O-See, Quincy, Ill.

Egg-O-See

THE COURTS

MRS. HENRIETTA LOOKER ASKS FOR A DIVORCE.

Chas. Hurbough Sues Board of Education of Burlington Township—Realty Transfers—Notes.

Henrietta Looker has brought suit in the common pleas court against Charles Looker for divorce. The parties were married May 2, 1897, and for cause of action Mrs. Looker charges her husband with having abandoned her on April 10, 1898, leaving for parts unknown to her, and that he has been absent ever since. The defendant is also charged with having failed to provide his wife with a home, clothing, food or the necessities of life. Attorneys Horner and Smythe & Smythe represent the plaintiff.

Sues School Board
Charles Hurbough, by his attorney, G. C. Daugherty, has brought suit in the common pleas court against the board of education of Burlington township for $252.70, which he alleges is due him for boring a water well in Burlington township.

Common Pleas Court.
Wm. T. Willev v. W. H. Lucas et al. leave given to withdraw motion, and leave to file answer. Montgomery, J. H. Jones.

Carrie Brothers v. Englebert Brothers, for hearing Thursday morning on an application for temporary alimony Smythe & Smythe; Hunter, J. D. Jones.

Jas. T. Osborn ex'r, v. Mary Nichols. Sale confirmed and deed and distribution ordered. Howard.

Wilbur M. Beatty v. B. M. East et al., receiver given authority to compromise claims. Randolph, Forry; Taylor.

George Cook v. Village of Pataskala, a petition in error to reverse judgment of conviction for selling intoxicating liquors in Pataskala. Defendant in error asks that petition in error be dismissed for reason that no leave was granted to file the same. Leave was asked to file petition today and the matter submitted to the court.

Consumers Brewing Co. v. Wm. F. Driscoll et al., decree in favor of plaintiff against Wm. F. Driscoll; leave given Home Building Association Company to answer in 20 days. Norpell, Fitzgibbon, Stasei.

Emma G. Vanatta v. Charles M. Vanatta et al., a proceeding for divorce and alimony; for hearing Thursday next on merits, and on a motion to require defendant to show cause why he is not guilty of contempt in failure to pay alimony heretofore ordered. Flory & Flory; James, Fitzgibbon.

Usual Low Rates.
In effect by the Missouri Pacific Railway, February 16, March 1 and 15, only $6.50 for second class tickets, St. Louis to all points in Indian and Oklahoma Territories.

By the Iron Mountain route, only $10 from St. Louis to all points in Texas, east of Amarillo, Ft. Worth, Abilene, San Antonio, Alice and Galveston. Also to certain points in Louisiana.

Home-Seekers' round trip good for twenty-one days to return, liberal layovers on going trip, only $15.

Rates to intermediate points on direct line not to be higher.

Call on or address, A. A. Gallagher, D. P. A., No. 419 Walnut street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Missouri Pacific Railway Company
St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway Co.

The "True Southern Route" to California is via the Iron Mountain Route, the only line running Pullman Drawing Room and Tourist Sleepers from St. Louis without change to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Quick time and up-to-date service, dining cars, meals a la carte.

Low rates in effect after March 1st, 1904, to California and intermediate points.

Round trip Home-Seekers' and one-way Colonist rates to the West and Southwest at greatly reduced rates, effective first and third Tuesdays of each month. Information cheerfully furnished. Call on or address, A. A. Gallagher, D. P. A., No. 419 Walnut street, Cincinnati, O.

Now is the Time to Visit Hot Springs, Arkansas, via the Iron Mountain Route.

The season at the Great National Health and Pleasure Resort is now in full blast. Climate unsurpassed. Hot Springs Special leaves St. Louis daily at 8:20 p. m., making the run in less than twelve hours. Three other fast daily trains. Handsome description of literature can be obtained free by calling on or addressing A. A. Gallagher, D. P. A., No. 419 Walnut street, Cincinnati, O.

Always Remember the Full Name
Laxative Bromo Quinine
Cures a Cold in 1 Day, Grip in 2 Days on every box 25c

poned on Mt. Vernon avenue March 8, and he claims it was all due to the motorman persisting in blowing the whistle. Attorney Charles F. Proctor filed the petition.—Columbus Dispatch.

Appointed Administrator.
M. T. Reeter has been appointed administrator of the estate of Homer V. Reeter, deceased, of Hanover township. Bond, $1,400.

Real Estate Transfers.
F. A. Ruckey and Blanche Ruckey to George Meyers and Viola Meyers, in lot 60 and 5 feet off of lot 55 in Kirkersville, $1400.

Nettie V. Struble and others by Wm. H. Anderson, Jr., sheriff, to the Centerburg Building and Loan Association Company, real estate in Newark, $1970.

Judson T. Lewis and Florence E. Lewis to Herbert James Catton, in lot 3923 in A. H. Husey addition to Newark, $50.

Tragedy Averted.
"Just in the nick of time our little boy was saved," writes Mrs. W. Watkins of Pleasant City, Ohio. "Pneumonia had played sad havoc with him and a terrible cough set in besides. Doctors treated him, but he grew worse every day. At length we tried Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and our darling was saved. He's now sound and well." Every body ought to know, it's the only sure cure for Coughs, Colds and all Lung diseases. Guaranteed by Hall's drug store. Price 50c and $1.00 Trial bottles free.

TODAY'S MARKETS.

(S. E. Cripp's Special Wire.)

Wheat:	Opening	High	Low	Close
May	96 3/4	97 1/2	95 3/4	97 1/2
July	91 3/4	92 1/2	90 3/4	92 1/2
Sept.	85 3/4	86 3/4	84 3/4	86 3/4

Corn:	Opening	High	Low	Close
May	53 1/2	54 1/2	52 1/2	54 1/2
July	51 3/4	52 1/2	50 3/4	52 1/2

Oats:	Opening	High	Low	Close
May	41 1/2	42 1/2	40 1/2	41 1/2
July	39 3/4	40 1/2	38 3/4	39 3/4

Pork:	Opening	High	Low	Close
May	140 1/2	141 1/2	139 1/2	140 1/2
July	143 1/2	144 1/2	142 1/2	143 1/2

PITTSBURGH.
Pittsburgh March 14—Cattle: Supply 100 loads; steady, choice cattle $10.50 to $12.00; good $8.50 to $10.00; fair $7.50 to $8.50; poor $6.50 to $7.50; hogs $4.50 to $5.50; sheep $3.50 to $4.50; lambs $4.50 to $5.50; calves $3.50 to $4.50.

Hogs Receipts 30 loads; market active, prime heavy and mediums $9.00 to $10.00; heavy Yorkers $8.00 to $9.00; pigs $5.50 to $6.50.

Sheep and Lambs: Supply 20 loads, sheep steady; lambs lower; prime wethers $4.50 to $5.50; good mixed $4.00 to $4.50; fair mixed $3.50 to $4.00; choice lambs $5.00 to $6.00; common $4.00 to $4.50.

Veal Calves: $5 to $7.

Pittsburgh, March 15.—Today's cattle light, steady; sheep light, steady; hogs light, steady.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, March 14—Cattle: Receipts 25,000 head, market steady; good to prime steers $5.50 to $6.00; poor to medium $3.50 to $4.50; stockers and feeders $2.50 to $3.50; cows $1.50 to $2.50; heifers $2.50 to $3.50; canners $1.50 to $2.50; bulls $2.50 to $3.50; calves $2.50 to $3.50.

Hogs: Receipts 35,000 head, market steady. Mixed and butchers $5.00 to $5.50; good to choice heavy $5.50 to $6.00; rough heavy $5.25 to $5.50; light $5.00 to $5.50; bulk of sales $5.25 to $5.50.

Sheep and Lambs: Receipts 25,000 head; market strong; lambs strong; good to choice wethers $4.00 to $4.50; fair to choice mixed $3.50 to $4.00; western sheep $3.50 to $4.00; native lambs $4.00 to $4.50; western lambs $4.50 to $5.00.

Chicago, March 15.—Today's cattle 2,500, steady; hogs 17,000, 5 and 10c higher; sheep 10,000, steady.

ST. LOUIS WOOL.
St. Louis, March 14.—Wool. Steady. Territory and western mediums 18c to 20c; fine medium 15c to 17c; fine 11c to 13c.

The Newark Business College.

Room 5, Lansing Block. Bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, English day and evening 18th year.

S. L. BREENY, Principal.

The report of Mr. Olyphant of the geological survey shows a remarkable production of the United States and Russia for the year 1902. The United States was very slightly in the lead with $6,884,540 barrels against $6,540,145 barrels for Russia. All the rest of the globe produced only 15,797,363 barrels.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY
Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box. 25c.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Cat School

From Pittsburg and from Boston, From Springfield, too, as well, The cats came to the cat's school To learn to read and spell.

It's kept by Mrs. Scratcher, A cat of mighty brain, Who teaches them their lessons, Well aided by her cane.

Beneath her sage tuition In course of time you'll see The maltese, if he studies, A clergyman will be.

TO LEARN TO READ AND SPELL.

Young Tab will be a soldier, A captain bold and true, And Jack will be a lawyer, And make a good judge too.

The teacher's kind and gentle, Although severe she looks, She makes them pay attention And stick well to their books.

—Detroit Journal.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Mice Who Would Be Frogs

Mr. Bullfrog sat sunning himself on the bank of the pond and wiggling his throat to get it in good shape for the evening concert at Lily Pad Opera House.

Three young field mice came sauntering by looking for grasshoppers. They soon spied Mr. Bullfrog and were much attracted by the funny wiggle in his green throat. "I wish I could do that," said No. 1.

"Easy enough," grunted Mr. Bullfrog. "Yes, but we haven't the kind of throat," said No. 2.

"It's all in practice," commented Mr. Frog. "All in practice, I assure you."

FATHER AND MOTHER PULLED HIM OUT.

Practice, my dear young mice, makes perfect. See! I do this every day for ten hours."

"When?" gasped No. 3. "I don't think it's worth while. I'd rather be a frog out and out and swim around in the cool pond. It's so hot out here in the fields! How do you learn to swim? Is that just practice too?"

"Purely so," said Mr. Frog, drawing himself up proudly. "Purely so. Just jump in like this, then strike out like this, and then like this, and in a few months you will find that your hair will come off. Your feet will become webbed like mine, and your mouths will stretch, your tails will drop out as mine did, for I had a tail once, and you will become frogs. But, my dears, remember, it's practice, practice, practice. Practice will change anything into anything."

"Thank you," said they in chorus. "We will try it at once."

Off they set to the barn, where the drinking trough stood.

"Here goes for a frog," said one, and, standing on the edge, he plunged in.

"Oh! Oh! Oh! Help, help!" he squeaked piteously. "I'm drowning. I can't practice, 'cause I can't get my breath. Mother! Father! Help!"

Just then mother and father came by and pulled him out, dripping.

"Silly thing," scolded his mother, "to try to be what you can't."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

He Knew Him.
Sbe—George says he feels for you.
He—He always says that after he has made a touch.—Yonkers Herald.

THE LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER'S PROXY

(Original.)

When I was a young man I secured a job at a lighthouse. My duties were nominal, and at first I was much pleased at having so little to do, but before long became tired of the monotony and wished myself anywhere else. I asked the keeper what he hired me for, and he said it was for company. He couldn't stay there alone, so he was willing to give 25 per cent of his salary for a companion. I told him that I would attend to the duties and give him 30 per cent of the salary, and he might stay away altogether. To this, after some consideration, he assented. When he left he told me he would come back occasionally, especially immediately after pay days. If lighthouse officials came along I was to try to find out if they had ever seen the keeper, Branegan. If they had I was to say he had been taken ill and had gone to a hospital. If they did not know him, I was to claim to be the keeper himself. With this he departed.

I found it a bigger contract than I had anticipated. The loneliness was simply awful. I stood it a month and was about to resign when a boat load of lighthouse officials and others came to the steps, and when they came up I noticed several women among them. One of them was a young girl, Cora Earl, the daughter of the captain of the life saving station a mile down the beach. She was very pretty, and we took a fancy to each other from the start. I showed them over the premises, and as the keeper wasn't known to any of them I assumed to be he. After they had gone it was ten times as lonesome as before.

The next day I locked up and went to the life saving station to see Cora. I found her mighty well pleased to see me and didn't get away from her till it was nearly time to light the lights. I arranged for her to meet me the next day half way between the light and the station. She did so, and it wasn't long before we were betrothed. It occurred to me to tell her that I was not the keeper, but I didn't dare do it. I had nothing to marry on except my salary, and I was fearful she would make a break and I would be relieved of that. I was surprised that her father hadn't seen Branegan, but learned that the keeper was supposed to be a solitary man who wouldn't have any friends. Those I met were astonished to discover that he was so sociable.

Branegan came along once a month and sometimes oftener. He had influence to get information when any official would call at the lighthouse and would usually be on hand. I posted him how I was playing him with the life saving people, and he was careful not to give me away. I married Cora six weeks after I met her. Her father thought it too soon, but I told him I was so lonesome that I couldn't stand it any longer. So we got spliced, and Cora came to live with me at the light.

One night in a fog a vessel came right in to within half a mile of the light. I was in the yawl at the time, and, as the fog stood a few feet above the water, I could see her, though she couldn't see me or the lighthouse. I pulled out to her, shouting as I pulled, and succeeded in heading her off. When directly under her bows her captain hailed me, and I told him he was within a few hundred yards of the rocks. He gave an order to back off, but before leaving asked me my name, etc. I told him I was Branegan, the lighthouse keeper.

A few days later two men came to the lighthouse and asked for Branegan. I told them I was Branegan, and they clapped a pair of handcuffs on me. I was taken into the city and charged with murder, but when my accusers came to see me they declared I was not Branegan. I was obliged to confess how I came by my position, and I was returned under guard to the lighthouse. A man was left with me to see that I did not communicate with Branegan.

Of course this was a great shock to my wife. She remembered that she had married me without knowing anything about me, and I was obliged to confess that appearances were much against me, but before I was taken away I told her the true story, and she believed me.

Since my marriage I was used to meeting Branegan half a mile up the beach on pay day, and next pay day I concluded to go to him as usual. I couldn't save him if I would. Of course I was followed and Branegan was arrested.

The lighthouse governors heard of my arrest as Branegan, but the matter was explained, and when I went back after my release it was with authority to act temporarily as keeper. The truth is they had no one else just then to put in my place and knew that I had been acting as keeper for months. Nothing was done until after the arrest of Branegan himself, when I received a call from a member of the lighthouse board. He informed me that the captain of the ship I had saved from going on the rocks had reported the fact to the board and had sent a check for $1,000 for me. This he gave me with my appointment as keeper, with an advance of $200 a year salary.

From the moment of my arrest my wife's parents had lost confidence in me and begged her to come back to them, but she stuck to her post, though my conduct looked very suspicious. When I received the check and my appointment she took me again into her confidence, and we have been very happy in our storm beaten home ever since. Branegan was acquitted of the murder on a plea of insanity and afterward died in an asylum for the criminal insane.

ALBERT TOWNSEND.

DR. FENNER'S KIDNEY and Backache CURE

All diseases of Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs, Rheumatism, Backache, Heart Disease, Gravel, Dropsy, Female Troubles. Don't become discouraged. There is a cure for you. If necessary write Dr. Fenner. He has spent a life time curing just such cases as yours. All consultations free. "A gravel joined in my bladder. After using a few bottles of Dr. Fenner's Kidney and Backache Cure I passed a gravel ball as large as a marble. The medicine prevented further formation. I was cured." W. T. OAKES, Orris, Va.

Druggists, 50c. $1. Ask for Cook Book—Free. ST. VITUS' DANCE. Fenner, Fredonia, N. Y.

Don't Trifle With A Cold.

It is a serious mistake for you to say that your cold doesn't amount to much and it will wear away in a few days. It may settle on your lungs or elsewhere in your system and dangerous results will follow the delay. Take some reliable remedy for it today and let that be.

Dr. Black's Cough Syrup.

A few doses will quickly relieve the cough or cold and if taken regularly will effect a permanent cure. Don't be discouraged if your cough is persistent. Dr. Black's Cough Syrup will soon set you straight.

GRAYTON'S DRUG STORE

Notice!

If you want the best Warm Air Furnace, Charcoal, Spout, Tin, Slate and Iron Roofing, Steel Ceilings, Sheet Iron and Copper Work, Repairing, Workmanship and Material call on

Bailey & Keeley

Nos. 78 and 80 West Main St. New Phone 123.

A. N. BANTON

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR AND SUPPLIES.

Ceiling and desk fans. No. 49 N. 3d st., with Sayre, the plumber. Citizens phone. Office 107; Res. 564.

Guy & McGonagle

MONUMENTS, TOMBS, TABLETS. All Work Promptly Erected.

Newark, Ohio.

Dr. J. T. Lewis, DENTIST.

Office, New Phone 818, 42 1-2 N. Third St. Res. Old Phone 403.

Teeth extracted without pain. Work guaranteed. Office hours 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 5 p. m. Open Wednesday and Saturday evenings to 8. Other evening appointments only.

JOSEPH RENZ, NOTARY PUBLIC, REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE.

Office Newark Savings Bank. Loans and mortgages written. All business entrusted to me will be promptly and carefully attended to.

WALDO TAYLOR, Attorney and Counselor at Law, Newark, Ohio.

Will practice in County, State and Federal Courts, and give prompt attention to all business entrusted to his care. Special attention given to business of Executors, Administrators, Guardians, and Assignments and Partitions of Real Estate. Office over Real Estate office, North Side Public Square.

E. M. P. BRISTER, Attorney at Law, Newark.

Office in room formerly occupied by Joel M. Dennis, northwest corner West Main and Third streets.

Will practice in all the courts. Special attention given to the settlement of estates.

DR. A. W. BEARD, DENTIST.

Office Hours—8 to 11:30, 12:30 to 5 p. m. Up-to-date methods in dentistry. Filling, Crowning and Bridge work. Extraction of all kinds. All work guaranteed. Extracting a specialty, and as near painless as possible. Gas and vitalizer used when desired. 272 Granville street. Old phone 381.

Office—First railway north of Carroll's dry goods store, North Third street.

ROBBINS HUNTER, Attorney at Law, Newark, Ohio.

Will practice in Licking and adjoining counties in all courts. Special attention given to collections and the writing of wills, deeds and contracts of all kinds, and to the business of Administrators, Executors and guardians in the Probate Court. Office—Hewitt & Jones block, West Side of Public Square. New phone 112.

JOHN DAVID JONES, Attorney at Law.

J. B. Rosebrough, Manager

THE AUDITORIUM

March 17.

Fun for the Weary.

Elmer Walters'

Character Comedy Success,

A Thoroughbred Tramp.

MOST WONDERFUL PLAY OF ITS CLASS.

A Guaranteed Laugh Produced

Prices: 25c, 35c, 50c.

Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"YOUNG WOMEN:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstrual periods. I am most grateful."—NETTIE BLACKMORE, 28 Central Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will hold your letter in strict confidence. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free.

We have just received a large shipment of the old reliable

Hallman's Diamond Wall Paper Gleaner

The kind that we always have in the red box. It is easy to clean wall paper with this cleaner, a child can use it and make the soiled paper look like new. Price 25 cents a box, and is enough to clean a room. Sold at

HALL'S DRUG STORE
10 N. Side Square.

NOTICE

For a nice tender beef steak, roast, slice of ham of anything in the meat line or groceries, call at 45 North Fourth street, next to Steam Laundry, where you get your money's worth. Trading stamps with all cash purchases. Prompt attention to all telephone orders. We appreciate your patronage. Both phones.

J. C. HARTER, G. F. SAUR,
45 N. FOURTH STREET

Woman's Nature
Mother's friend, by its penetrating and soothing properties, allays nausea, nervousness, and all unpleasant feelings, and so prepares the system for the ordeal that she passes through the event safely and with but little suffering, as numbers have testified and said, "It is worth its weight in gold." $1.00 per bottle of druggists. Book containing valuable information mailed free. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Third Vice President G. L. Potter of the B. & O., is expected in Newark on Wednesday.

W. H. Davis of the Board of Sinking Fund Trustees of this city, spent the day in Columbus.

Homer Stivers, managing editor of the American-Tribune, is in Cincinnati for a few days.

Miss Ada Follett and Mr. Frank Maurath saw Frank Daniels in "The Office Boy" in Columbus Monday night.

Al. Gard, the popular West End restaurateur, is taking a little vacation owing to a temporary change in business.

John Adam, who has been visiting at his old home in Germany for the past few weeks, has returned home. He was accompanied by a nephew.

Talk with Jordan.

THE SICK.

Levi Ferguson has been quite sick at his home on West Main street for several days.

"Squire James R. Atcherly is suffering from a slight attack of the grip, but is still holding court as usual.

Constable Bert Cunningham of "Squire J. R. Atcherly's court, is still quite sick and unable to attend to business. During his absence ex-Sheriff George W. Horton is acting as constable in his place.

Mrs. Harry Marple, of Elmwood avenue, left Monday morning for Cincinnati where she will undergo an operation.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c and satisfaction guaranteed by Hall's drug store.

OHIO BUILDING

Opening of the St. Louis World's Fair Will Be Held May 15—Burdell Returns.

Columbus, O., March 15.—W. F. Burdell, president of the Ohio commission to the St. Louis exposition returned last night from an inspection of the Ohio building which will be ready for opening about May 15. The commission will have a meeting within the next two weeks to determine the number of employees and decide upon the appointments.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Cigarette Smoking.

Men employed in the train service of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad are being served with notice, not officially, but in an equally practical manner, that it were better for those of their number who smoke cigarettes to promptly discontinue the habit. This is but a part of a new national story, so to speak. Officials of railroads all over the country, advised by medical authorities, have begun a crusade against the cigarette, claiming that the narcotic absorbed in inhaling its fumes has a bad effect upon the eyesight of the smoker.—Martin's Ferry Times.

Pennsylvania Engines.

Being crowded with work in the local shops the Pennsylvania Railroad company has given 20 engines to the Baldwin Locomotive works in Philadelphia for immediate repairs. More orders will follow. This is the first time the Pennsylvania has ever given out repair work.

THE DAY'S DEATHS AND FUNERALS IN COLUMBUS

At Home of Daughters. Mrs. Phoebe Palmer, of Summit Station, Died Monday.

A special dispatch to The Advocate from Columbus announces the death of Mrs. Phoebe Palmer, of Summit Station, this county. Mrs. Palmer, who was a widow, 72 years of age, died Monday at the home of her daughter Mrs. George Graham, 323 Monroe avenue, Columbus, after an illness which began last September.

Mrs. Palmer, who was an aunt of Mrs. D. M. Black, of Hudson avenue, this city, leaves five children as follows: Mrs. Thora Baird, of Columbus; Mrs. George Graham, of Columbus; Nelson Palmer, of Summit Station; Robert Allee of Summit Station, and Miss Nettie Allen, of Hudson avenue, Newark.

The funeral takes place on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Pataskala.

MRS. MURPHY

Died Monday Evening at the Home of Her Son, A. E. Murphy, of Second Street.

Mrs. K. T. Murphy, aged 74, died at the home of her son, A. E. Murphy, South Second street, about 7:30 o'clock Monday evening after a long illness with cancer. She leaves one son, A. E. Murphy, of Newark, and one daughter, Mrs. B. F. Smith, of Columbus.

The remains will be taken to Zanesville at 8:10 Wednesday morning where the burial will take place.

ON WEDNESDAY

Funeral of Frederick Kummer Takes Place at Home of Daughter, Mrs. Smith.

The funeral services of the late Frederick Kummer will be held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. R. Smith, 299 Summer street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

WM. TUDOR'S FUNERAL.

Rev. Mr. Rose, of Granville, went to Mt. Vernon Tuesday to officiate at the funeral of Wm. Tudor who died Sunday from heart trouble. Mr. Tudor was for years a deacon of the First Baptist church at Mt. Vernon. He was born in 1826.

TRIAL WILL BE UNIQUE

Evidence Will Have to be Translated Twice Before it Can Be Understood by 'Squire Atcherley--The Affidavit Charges Embezzlement.

On Tuesday morning Louis Amstader, a saloonist, who runs a place on Wilson street, was arrested on a warrant issued from "Squire J. R. Atcherley's court, on an affidavit filed by Attorneys C. L. Flory and Charles W. Miller, representing Pietro Pappo, a Roumanian laborer, who has been working at the glass house. The affidavit charges embezzlement of $40 against Amstader, who was released for trial next Monday morning at 9 o'clock before "Squire Atcherley, on a bond of $50.

The circumstances leading up to the filing of the affidavit are about as follows, according to the claims of the prosecuting witness.

Pappo with some others of his nationality, have been working hard and saving money which they wished to send to their families in far off Roumania. Amstader had their confidence and to him they gave various sums to forward to their relatives. Now, Pappo claims, it develops that Amstader did not send $40 entrusted to him, but converted it to his own use.

The trial will develop the most unique feature of any ever tried in any of the local courts, and will be doubly interesting in view of this fact.

The prosecuting witness cannot speak a word of English and no one can be found who can speak both Roumanian and English. But Andrew Cernea can talk Roumanian and German, but not English, so that another expedient was grasped to get Pappo's testimony to the court. Theodore Simrose will be called into the NEWS IN BRIEF.

Company G Meeting. All members of Company G are ordered to attend drill at the armory to night and return the overcoats issued to them.

Case is Dismissed. The case against Louis Reysback, the saloonist, charged with violating the Sunday closing ordinance, has been dismissed by Mayor Crilly.

Sale of Horses. Mr. George W. Crawford will hold a sale of his fine horses at his Sharon Valley stock farm on Monday March 21, commencing at 10 o'clock, sharp.

Two Girls Fined. Two girls were fined $5 and costs and committed to the county jail this morning on a charge of visiting a wine room.

Opening of New Store. The Powers-Miller Company is pushing all arrangements for the opening of the new store, and it is thought that this will be some day early next week.

Meeting To-Night. Branch No. 656 of the L. C. B. A., will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A full attendance of the members is earnestly requested by the president.

Before the Mayor. Mayor Crilly was engaged today in hearing evidence in the case of Mike Bookser, and other saloonists, who were arrested on a charge of violating the Sunday closing law.

Engagement Announced. The engagement of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Reed's charming daughter, Miss Besse, to Mr. Wm. Nelson Pierson who travels for Fleek & Neal, was announced Monday. The wedding is to take place within a few months.

Horse Fell. A horse belonging to James Linn, the contractor, fell at the corner of West Main and Fifth streets this morning, and a great deal of difficulty was experienced in getting it on its feet.

Ladies Will Sew. The regular meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church has been postponed one week on account of the union meetings. The ladies will sew at Mrs. Frank Windle's on Thursday afternoon.

Elks Election. The regular meeting of Newark Lodge, No. 391, P. P. O. E., will be held this evening, at which time the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. A full attendance of the members is desired.

Mr. Haiple Appointed. Charles Haiple was on Monday afternoon appointed captain of the new fire station in North Newark. Mr. Haiple is one of the oldest men in the department, having served for about seven years. He is in every way qualified for the responsibilities of his new position.

The Modern Woodmen. Cedar Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, has a membership in Newark of over 900. They are hustling to make the thousand mark, and when that is reached, which will be in the near future, there will be the biggest old time in the biggest old Woodmen town of Ohio that was ever seen before.

Unfounded Rumor. Owing to some trouble on the Midland division of the Baltimore & Ohio division, the Enquirers did not arrive here on the regular morning train. It was reported that an engine on a train on the Midland division had turned over, causing the delay. Inquiry at the dispatchers' office, however, failed, however to confirm the rumor.

Knights of Columbus. Local officers of the Knights of Columbus have no information regarding the criticism of the Connecticut Knights of Columbus recently made in the Catholic Transcript, the recognized organ of the Hartford diocese. The Connecticut lodge was charged with admitting Masons and others, not practical Catholics, to remain in the order and was, in addition, charged with carrying nationalism too far. It is stated that the Ohio council is not affected by the charges brought against the Connecticut branch.

The average family in the United States has four and seven-eighths persons.

The Irish Parliamentary fund for the year 1904 amounts to $2,045.

Arbor Posts, Fence Posts, Pickets and Rails. Newark Lumber Co. Both phones. 3-9-d-f

Ayer's Hair Vigor
Only 35¢ Your gray hair makes you look 20 years older. No need of this old age. Restore the color. Keep young. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

THE WANTS.

FOR SALE.

For Sale—Three counters and shelving in good condition. Must be sold by April 1st. Enquire of S. E. Rhoads. 15d3t*

For Sale—A new two-horse wagon, carriage, plows, harrow, road scraper, young gray team. A bargain. 127 Oakwood avenue. 15d3t*

For Sale or Rent—Eight room brick house, 5 acres of land. Granville street. Reese R. Jones. 15d4t

For Sale—A 6-room strictly modern house on Elmwood avenue. Enquire at 56 South Second street. 15d3t

For Sale—6-room house on Ninth St., close to Church street, at a bargain. Rees R. Jones. 3-14-d-8s

The cut price sale of sample pictures will continue till March 19. Nicholas Framing Co., 51 North Third street. 3-14-d-3t*

For Sale—5-room new house on North Tenth street, No. 104. Enquire on premises. 12d3t*

For Sale—Two seven-room dwellings, one six-room dwelling. Good locations. Inquire at 125 Granville street. 3-7d12t*

For Sale—8-room house, bath, gas lights. Lot 50x150. Clinton street. See to this at once. Rees R. Jones. 3-14d12t

For Sale—Well improved farm of 80 acres, 4 1-2 miles east of Newark, at a bargain. Fertile land. Rees R. Jones. 3-4d12twt

For Sale—7-room dwg., furnace, hot and cold water, cellar, well, cistern, barn 16x52, and 7 acres of land, all in good condition; just outside the corporation; $3,700.00. Fred C. Evans, No. 33 1-2 W. Main St. 2-27-d&sw-tf

For Sale or Exchange—If you are thinking of buying or exchanging property, don't fail to see F. C. King and partner. If they can't accommodate you your case must be a hopeless one. 17 1-2 South Side.

For Sale—A current encyclopedia; easy payments, 2c per week; for particulars apply to the Advocate office. 2-15d1t

For Sale—Show cases with tables at E. F. Collins & Co., jewelers, Y. M. C. A. building. 2-23d1t

FOR SALE.

5 acres of good ground with a fine brick house and barn, fruit, etc.; on good residence street. Price, $5,000. 7 acres, Franklin addition, good 7-room house with bath and furnace. 2 springs, fruit, etc. Price, $3,500. 6-room new house. West Main street, $2,500. 6-room house, new. West Main street, $2,000. 8-room house, five minutes from square, $2,000. 7-room house, North Fourth street, $2,400. 5-room house Williams street $500. 5-room house, furnace, Penney avenue, $1,400. 5-room house on Pond street. Possession given at once. 2 houses near Heisey's glass works, each, $550. 5-room, bath, furnace, etc. North Fourth street, $2,300. 6-room, Sixth street, rents $14 a month, $1,500. 7-room, bath, furnace, gas lights, cherry finish, on Church street, pavement paid out, $2,200. 6-room, Eddy street, $200 cash, balance as rent, $1,100. 6-room, Buena Vista street, near Main, $2,000. 6-room, modern, on Hudson avenue, hardwood finish, lot 50x250, $2,550. 7-room cottage, Hudson avenue, bath and furnace; owner going away, $2,400.

THE NEWARK REAL ESTATE AND IMPROVEMENT CO., 14 North Side Square. Both Phones. Office open evenings. 11-11

LOST AND FOUND.

Lost—Lady's pocketbook, containing 20, some stamps and other papers, between Wilson's livery stable, Newark, O., and St. Louisville. Finder liberally rewarded by returning to Wm. Wilson at stable in Newark. 15d3t*

Lost—A $10 bill Saturday afternoon, between Franklin Bank and Newark Savings Bank. Finder will be rewarded if returned to 251 North Fourth street. 14d3t*

Lost—Pass case containing $60 and an annual pass over P. C. & St. L. Ry. in name of W. J. Briceland. Finder liberally rewarded by returning to The Advocate office. 3-14-d-3t*

Lost—Pension certificate on March 4. Finder please return to Advocate office or to Martin B. L. Garrison.

MAMMOTH LIZARD

Twenty-five Feet High Discovered in Oklahoma Sand. (Enid, Ok. T. Events.) Captain G. B. Mack who lives 18 miles northwest, has a part of the remains of a mammoth prehistoric lizard. The skeleton of the lizard was discovered in a creek bed, covered with sand, and had probably lain there for ages.

The discovery was made by accident, parties being engaged in scrap-hunt away the sand to find rock. The location was in a perfect state of preservation, being 1 1/2 feet long and 2 1/2 feet high.

Inquiries were made concerning the find, and an Eastern historical society sent its books and estimates, according to which the lizard belonged to an age 1,000,000 years ago. The explanation given was that the lizard reached 50 tons in life and required 4,000 years to mature to its immense size. This, of course, is speculation, but an investigation of the bones will convince anyone that a great monster lived, moved and had its being ages ago.

THE NEWARK DAILY ADVOCATE,
Published by the ADVOCATE PRINTING COMPANY.

J. H. NEWTON, Editor.
C. H. SPENCER, Associate Editor.
A. H. PIERSON, Business Manager.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:
Single copy, 2 cents.
Delivered by carrier, per week, 10 cents.
If paid in advance:
Delivered by carrier, one month, $2.50.
Delivered by carrier, six months, $12.50.
Delivered by carrier, one year, $24.00.
By mail, strictly in advance, one year, $24.00.
All subscribers who arrange to pay at the office are subject to a call from the collector if payment is not made when due.

Many persons who keenly feel the outrage that has been enacted by the legislature in abolishing spring elections seem to have had hopes that the Governor would refuse to sign the Chapman bill and that, therefore, there was a possibility that the bill would not become a law. But this is a vain hope. Governor Herrick was one of the chief promoters of the scheme to abolish spring elections. The Governor's office was the headquarters for Dick and Cox, where all the Republican members of the Legislature were taken and given the necessary instructions to line them up for the measure.

The neutrality instructions issued by the President to our public officials are entirely proper, and they should be carefully observed. At the same time the President himself and his secretary of state should take the instructions to themselves and sedulously endeavor to prevent us from getting entangled in any complications because of their utterances or acts with reference to the pending hostilities between Russia and Japan.

The report that the Russians have evacuated Wiju, Korea, and retreated across the Yalu is important. It indicates that the Japanese forces are approaching that place, and that the Russians are not likely to make any serious opposition in Northern Korea. Wiju is the port which was recently declared open by the emperor of Korea upon the solicitation of the American minister. If it has been burned by the Russians, as the report states, however, its value for commercial purposes, as well as for military occupation, is likely to be impaired for some time to come.

The Cannon presidential boom, which had such a sensational birth in the House of Representatives on Friday, is said to have already collapsed. When the excitable congressmen calmly thought over what they had done they realized that the President was likely to be after them with a big stick if there was any persistence in their foolishness. Nevertheless, the incident showed that many of the Republican national lawmakers are disgruntled with Roosevelt, and that they would be glad to stick a knife into him if they had a safe opportunity to do so.

The evidence procured Saturday in the Smoot inquiry strongly corroborated the claim of the prosecutors as to the active interference of the Mormon church in politics and the power which its hierarchy has exerted over the actions of Mormons seeking and holding public positions. From Utah comes word that the Mormons there are so strongly stirred up over the revelations at Washington that they are threatening to take up arms against the United States.

THE SPRINGFIELD MOB.

(Pittsburg Post.)
Commenting on the Springfield mob, the Philadelphia Press observes that it "seems to have been equal in infamous conduct to any Southern mob." It not only lynched the colored prisoner in jail awaiting trial, but "the homes of a large number of colored people were set on fire and destroyed." It does not appear that any one has been arrested, and the grand jury is tardy and negligent. This condition certainly should command careful consideration, for the city and county and the congressional district in which the riot took place are overwhelmingly Republican; the local peace officers are all Republican and the governor and legislature of the state are of the same persuasion. It has been the fashion to place the responsibility for the race issue at the South on Democrats, with its accompaniment of crime and lawlessness. What about the state of Ohio or the county of Clark?

The Non-Irritating Cathartic

Easy to take, easy to operate—

Hood's Pills

The Consumer is Footing the Bill.

Iowa dispatches indicate that the death of Senator Hanna is already encouraging the Cummins men to renewed exertions for tariff revision. Senator Dolliver is reputed to have decided to make common cause with the Blythe crowd of "stand-patters," although he is on record as sympathizing with Cummins' tariff ideas, and he declared in the senate that the rates of the Dingley tariff were made high with a view to reduction by reciprocity treaties. Cummins is fully determined to go to the national convention, get on the committee on resolutions and make a fight there for a tariff revision plank, and if beaten in the committee to carry the fight into the convention. Secretary Shaw was quite mistaken about his "climbing down the pole." Philadelphia Record.

It is a fact that the rates of the Dingley tariff were purposely made high ostensibly in order that, in negotiating the reciprocity treaties, reductions could be made to meet the demands of the treaty countries and yet leave ample "protection." Several treaties were actually negotiated by John A. Kasson, as special commissioner, but they were never ratified. Having once tasted the sweets of the high rates, the American beneficiaries brought powerful influence to bear and the treaties were shelved. And so American consumers have been paying all these years higher tariff taxes than even the supporters of the Dingley bill originally intended. For one reason or another the Republicans in congress have been content to allow this robbery to continue, without objection or protest. The fighting governor of Iowa does not believe that his party is playing fair with the people and says so. He thinks that it is the duty of his party, as a matter of common political honesty, to keep some sort of faith by revising the tariff. He believes that Mr. McKinley's Buffalo speech furnishes ground on which he can stand. It is possible that he may be able to get into the Republican national convention and that he may be given a hearing by the committee on resolutions, but that will be about all. The "stand-patters" will run the convention to suit themselves. They already look upon Governor Cummins as one crying in the wilderness and upon his "Iowa idea" as a joke.

HAPPY WOMEN

Plenty of Them in Newark and Good Reason For It.

Wouldn't any woman be happy. After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, She finds relief and cure? No reason why any Newark reader Should suffer in the face of evidence as this:

Mrs. David R. Jones, 23 Poplar avenue says: "Every morning I had such a sharp pain in my kidneys. I was hardly able enough to turn my body to get out of bed. When I kept moving around I did not feel it so much, but if I sat still or laid a while it became quite severe. My husband brought home one day from Crayton's drug store a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and they started them. Imagine my surprise and pleasure when I found they had rid me of the pain in my back and toned my appetite. It's a good thing to be free from backache." For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute. 122

REMOVAL NOTICE.

I have moved my place of business from 53 West Main street to 253 West Locust street, where I will be pleased to meet all my customers for drilled and drove wells, pumps, pipes, wind mills and tanks. Pump repairing, sinks and gas fittings. Both phones. 1-1241. CHAS. HURBOUGH.

"Munching parties" in London are the latest outcome of the new health fad. The guests at such meals are invited only on condition that each mouthful of food is chewed 32 times before it is swallowed.

Five million dollars have been subscribed so far in England for promoting the cultivation of cotton in British colonies and Egypt. One part of the scheme is to send out a large number of ex-servants and experts in cotton growing to instruct the natives till they are familiar with the process.

REAR END COLLISION

Between B. & O. Freight and Muskingum Valley Work Train—Newark Men Jumped to Safety—Some Damage Was Done by Collision.

A rear-end collision was experienced by the Cincinnati and Muskingum Valley work train Monday when a Baltimore and Ohio freight train collided with the work train on the curve of the C. & M. V. near Darlington station. The locomotive of the B. & O. train was badly damaged and the caboose and several flat cars of the C. & M. V. work train were destroyed.

The B. & O. freight train had left the San Toy mines with 20 loaded cars of coal. It was while rounding the curve near Darlington that the rear end collision was first seen to be unavoidable. With the heavy train on the down grade and but a short distance in the rear of the C. & M. V. work train all the B. & O. crew were forced to jump while the train rushed on at a rate of 30 miles, to escape what seemed to be no other than fatal injury.

Fireman Decker of the B. & O. train was the first to see the danger ahead. He gave warning to the crew and immediately jumped for life. Engineer Wilson remained at his seat but when the last hope of stopping the heavy train was gone, he too jumped from the cab. The crew escaped injury, receiving only scratches and minor bruises.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bash, of Near High Water, Celebrate Their Fiftieth Anniversary.

Invitations circulated among the numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bash of near High Water, Ohio, proclaimed one of the joyous anniversaries which mark the pleasant milestones of life's checkered way. March 10, 1854—March 10, 1904.

In pursuance of the above invitation, a large number of guests assembled at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Bash last Thursday to aid their agreeable host and hostess in celebrating their golden wedding.

Fifty years ago Mr. Bash and Miss Julia Houck, daughter of the late Jacob Houck, one of the early pioneers of Licking county, were joined in holy bonds of matrimony. Fifty years have passed of wedded happiness and yesterday the bride and groom renewed their mutual vows in the presence of their friends.

The day was an ideal one, and the presence of the children (all of whom were present save William) and the grandchildren, several of whom reside in Michigan, again under the parental roof will linger long in our memory.

Mrs. Bash was assisted in preparing the wedding feast by her pleasant and accomplished daughter-in-law, Mrs. Gabe Bash, both of whom are remarkable for their royal entertainments, and who upon this occasion exerted every effort to excel, and it was a wedding banquet indeed. "Father Time" has dealt kindly with Mr. and Mrs. Bash, leaving but few traces of care upon their brows, and from present indications they will live to celebrate more anniversaries of their wedded life.

The day was spent in social inter-

Both Decker and Wilson are Newark men.

Before jumping Engineer Wilson gave the alarm for brakes and also warned the crews of both trains to avoid personal injury. All the members of the crews of the C. & M. V. work train were in places of safety when the crash came. Their train had been hurried ahead at all possible speed by the opening of the throttle. All trains on the B. & O. and the C. & M. V. railroads were detoured over the Zanesville & Western tracks until the locomotive and wrecked cars could be cleared away.

ANOTHER COLLISION.

A head on collision occurred on the B. & O. near Barnesville Monday morning about 10:30 between a local and extra freight. Several cars were damaged and traffic was tied up for seven hours. The delegation of Zanesville Camels had chartered two extra coaches for passenger train 103 to come to Newark, but it was behind the wreck and did not arrive in Newark until 8 o'clock in the evening. The locomotive and two coaches brought the Camels to Newark while a train was made up here and sent to Cincinnati as 103.

course, interspersed by choice music rendered by Miss Arlie Wright, which was greatly enjoyed. Several of the guests present on this occasion were assembled to receive the bride and groom upon their return from the honeymoon fifty years ago, and this added much to the pleasure of the day.

Several beautiful and substantial presents were presented Mr. and Mrs. Bash by Dr. Buxton of Homer, on behalf of the donors in a neat little speech among which we noticed the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Burton gave some silver and gold berry spoon; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Duval, silver and gold pickle-fork; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Houck, silver and gold gravy ladle; Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Stevens, two fine cups and saucers; Mr. and Mrs. E. Keckley, genuine Haviland berry dish; Squire Jordan and Mrs. Patterson, 1 berry set, Mr. and Mrs. G. Houck, 1 beautiful water set and tray; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Houck and daughter, salad dish and large vase; Mr. and Mrs. Royal Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Stinson, costly and beautiful clock, Mrs. J. S. Barnhart, 1 very handsome and elaborate drawn work stand-cover and dolly; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bash, silver in cash; Mr. Archie Stinson, silver in cash; Mr. and Mrs. Amadee Scofield, $10 gold piece; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Wright, $10 gold piece, Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Bash, $10 gold piece; Mr. P. T. Bash $5 gold piece; Mrs. M. A. Hurd, $10 gold piece; Mrs. Charles Clark fruit dish; and other presents of lesser value. It was not until the shades of evening were falling that the pleasant party at last reluctantly separated, all feeling that they had enjoyed a most delightful day and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Bash all the prosperity and happiness that life affords. A GUEST.

Give WHITE SWAN flour a trial. New phone 229. 10-15-4

LATEST PICTURE OF LADY CURZON, VICE REINE OF INDIA.

This new picture of Lady Curzon, the American girl who is the wife of India's viceroy, shows her wearing her famous diamond tara and peacock feather gown. Before her marriage Lady Curzon was Miss Mary Leiter of Chicago.

SHORT STORIES.

The agent of the Penobscot, or Taptine, Indians reports that the tribe now numbers 300, fourteen having died during the last year.

In North Andover, Mass., the ice on Lake Cochichewick is twenty inches in thickness. In the memory of the oldest inhabitant it has never before reached this figure.

A big meteorite has been found in Oregon. It is ten feet long, seven wide and five high. It is one of the largest ever discovered, and there is much contention about its ownership.

During the month of January there was not a bell alarm of fire in Dover, N. H. Two still alarms for considerable chimney fires were all that disturbed the peace of the firemen.

The total foreign exports from Seattle in 1903 were $9,789,084, a falling off of upward of $1,000,000 from the previous year. The shortage is more than covered by the two items of wheat and salmon representing a short wheat crop and a light salmon pack.

A Brockton (Mass.) man, visiting in Nantucket, picked up a bundle on the street that proved to be a baby, and while he was wondering what to do the child's mother appeared to claim it. The baby had fallen off a sled the mother was hauling, and she had not noticed her loss till she reached home.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

In faces the snowball and lily of the valley are popular patterns.

Bows of various shapes and sizes adorn the newest Louis XV. bodices and sleeves.

The Marie Antoinette fichu in mouseline de soie is conspicuous as a finish to afternoon gowns.

Gold and silver braid for evening gowns is bordered on either side with ruchings of chiffon and gauze.

For the gauged skirt, to which fashion is now so partial, the soft fabrics are best adapted, and there is an extensive variety of these materials.

Neat check silks are favored for blouses and spring wraps of the shawl persuasion, relieved with plain satin pipings and lined with ivory satin liberty.

Gowns that are worn without coats will sport some fancy yokes. They are not necessarily of lace, but can be of shirrings or of applications, or the yokes can be little accordion plaited capes, fastened to the stock and allowed to fall over the shoulders. — Brooklyn Eagle.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Channing Pollock, dramatist of "The Pitt," is general publicity promoter for William A. Brady.

The initial production of "Cinderella and the Prince," by R. A. Barnett, author of "1492," was given in Boston recently by the Cadets and was a success.

One of the successes of the present season in Paris is "Jillie, Cotillon," which has been secured by Minnie Seligman, who obtained the rights through Elizabeth Marbury.

Cablegrams from Paris say that Marion Winchester, who was a great success as a dancer in this country, is soon to wed Comte Robert Arthur d'Oreanty, a Belgian nobleman.

Louise Willis, well known in this country and now playing in London, recently had her kneecap dislocated through a piece of scenery falling on her in the play of "Humpty Dumpty."

Mrs. Fiske has obtained the sole English acting rights to "Into the Great Light," the first serious play by C. M. S. McLellan. Mr. McLellan is responsible for "The Belle of New York."

EDITORIAL FLINGS.

The Serbian ruler continues to show an earnest desire to jump out of the king row.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fifty years from now you will hear the old timers referring to the good old winter of 1903-04.—Salineville (O.) Banner.

China sadly realizes that the day when a general could go to war with a pack of firecrackers and a bottle of asafetida are gone forever.—Washington Star.

That's a pretty good joke of the clothiers who are telling their customers that woolen goods are all wool now owing to the high price of cotton and its materials.—Boston Herald.

The czar of Russia can at least count upon having all the newspapers of his country with him on almost any subject. 'Tis easier to agree with him than to suspend publication.—Omaha Bee.

Young Mr. Rockefeller advises people not to complain of their hard luck. The man whose hard luck is not tempered by Standard Oil holdings will be inclined to regard the advice with some cynicism.—Washington Star.

WORLD'S FAIR NOTES.

A Philippine band of fifty-nine instruments will form one of the attractions at the fair.

The demands for space received from patent breakfast food companies alone are sufficient to fill the Agricultural building.

The windows of the Idaho building will be transparencies showing the wonderfully beautiful scenery of that state. The Shoshone falls in Idaho, are 220 feet high, sixty feet higher than the great Niagara falls, and of great volume.

Professor John R. Paine, head of the department of music at Harvard university, is now at work on the music of the world's fair hymn, which will be sung at the opening of the exposition at St. Louis in May. Edmund Clarence Stedman has written the words.

Spring Styles

Our Spring Goods Fresh From the Factories of The Best Eastern Makers are in.

Those who are particular will find a decided change in the best shoes and hats for Spring and Summer.

Tan Oxfords and Shoes

Are very fashionable again, and the hats have a pleasing variety of colors and shapes.

As usual we take pleasure in offering the largest and best stock of

Boots, Shoes, Hats and Caps

In Newark, at prices that with quality considered are all reasonable.

Our stock of Spring Goods is so attractive, that it seems to make all memories of previous assortments fade away in confusion.

THE KING 60.

Grand Union Tea Store

FORMERLY SHOWMAN BROS.

One Door West of Advocate

WE CARRY A FULL LINE OF

Groceries, Teas, Coffees, Spices, etc

We will give a fine line of presents of all descriptions to our customers. Tickets will be given for the same with each purchase.

All tickets procured from the agents will be redeemed.

Our goods are always fresh and best on the market and prices are always reasonable. We cordially invite you to call at our store and examine our stock and presents.

Grand Union Tea Store

D. L. White, Agent, 33 W. Main St.

THREE POINTS OF EXCELLENCE

The "Katy Flyer" Fast modern, daily train service between St. Louis in the north, San Antonio and Galveston in the south. Through Sleeping Cars—even as far as Mexico City—Chair Cars and Coaches.

The Short Line between Kansas City and Oklahoma and Texas. P. S.—The line to Oklahoma City will be opened early in February.

"Katy" Dining Stations. Meals 50 cts. Moderate in price—unsurpassed in quality and service.

There are other points—other trains. With 2,800 miles of road grid-ironing Missouri, Kansas, Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Texas. "The Katy" offers exceptional advantages to traveler and shipper alike. Folders, maps, illustrated books and information will cheerfully be furnished by any "Katy" Agent.

"Katy" to the World's Fair, St. Louis.

HORSE SALE

GREAT AUCTION SALE OF

50--HORSES--50

AT THE

Sharon Valley Stock Farm, Newark, Ohio.

One and One-fourth Miles West of the City Sale to be Held on Monday, March 21, 1904

Rain or shine. Sale will be held in the barn, wet or cold weather will not interfere, commencing at 10 a. m. sharp. This lot of fine horses will consist of farm chunks, teams of mares and geldings, suitable for farm or brewery teams; fine driving and surrey horses, suitable for family use. Come everybody, I will have something that will be what you want. In addition to this fine lot of mares and geldings, I will sell three or four second-hand stallions, from eight to twelve years old, that I have taken in exchange for young stallions. They are all guaranteed to be good breeders.

Geo W. Crawford, Prop., Newark, O.

Read Advocate Want Column

"In the spring was the Brown-flax spun,
And in the summer it bleached in the sun."

In The Days of —THE— "Old Bleach" Linens.

This ancient custom and treatment made the linens that were the pride and boast of our grandmothers—Linens that were as perfect to look upon and as substantial to feel after years of wear as they were the day they were spun.

This treatment of linens is still carried on by the makers of these "Old Bleached" Linens—Linens that are subjected to only the action of the dew and sun—Strictly grass bleached on the hills of Ireland—thus leaving the strength of the fabric unimpaired. Come in and examine these exquisite linens—or read the booklet we will give you free. It tells all about the Old Bleach Linens. This agency which we have taken this spring covers a line of TOWELS of the finest Huckabacks, EMBROIDERY LINENS of various kinds.

FINE CRASHES of various kinds, and LINEN WAISTINGS and Linen Sheetings. It's with pride we show a line of "The Old Time" fabrics that have proven so dependable.

The H. H. GRIGGS CO.

MONEY

Must be listed for taxation before the Second Monday in April.

Why not convert your money into Preferred Stock of

The Wehrle Co.

It pays interest at the rate of six per cent and is free from taxes.

Stock now ready for delivery in shares of $100.00 at

The Peoples National Bank

RESOLUTION.

Declaring it necessary to improve Granville street to Eleventh street by paving the roadway.

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Newark, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all members elected thereunto concurring.

That it is necessary to improve Granville street from the east line of Eddy street to the west line of Eleventh street by paving the roadway with brick and setting a sandstone curb on both sides thereof, and Be it further resolved that the Civil Engineer for the Board of Public Service be and he is hereby directed to prepare plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement, showing the grade of the same with reference to the property abutting thereon, and file said plans, specifications, estimates and profiles in the office of the department of Public Service, when the same shall be open to the inspection of all persons interested, and Be it further resolved, that the Clerk, L. and he is hereby directed to cause this resolution to be published according to law.

Adopted February 1, 1904.
Attest:
HARRY ROSSEL, Pres.
WM. L. MILLER, Clerk pro tem.

Engineers are alarmed at the inroads that crawfish and muskrats are making in the levees along the Mississippi river. The crawfish burrow into the levee and the muskrats follow to catch and eat them. Then the muskrats burrow right through the bank and make so many holes of this kind that in time of flood a break is likely to occur.

Bon Ami

Is used in the form of a thin lather and will not scratch.

POPE'S ENCYCLICAL

Provisions Will be Carried Out in the Newark Church as Soon as Practicable—It Will Not Affect the Easter Music.

Bishop James J. Hartley, when asked what would be the interpretation in local ecclesiastical circles of the recent encyclical of Pope Pius X. regarding the simplification of Catholic church music and the exclusion of women from the choir, said Monday that he was not prepared at this date to give any statement for publication. He said, however, that the change would not be immediate, but would come about gradually.

Father B. M. O'Boylan said on Tuesday that he had received a copy of the encyclical of Pope Pius and that its provisions would of course, be carried out in the Newark church as soon as practicable.

In Pittsburg, a sacred music commission has been appointed to consider the question of church music, and they are to call in consultation the choir directors and organists of the different churches, and will make public their decisions.

The Pope's "instruction in sacred music" is to add efficacy to the text. It should therefore possess sanctity and goodness of form. The Gregorian chant, the only chant which the Roman Catholic church has inherited from the fathers, and which she preserves exclusively for some parts of the liturgy, contains these qualities in the highest degree. The ancient traditional Gregorian chant must therefore be largely restored to the function of public worship.

The qualities mentioned are also possessed in an excellent degree by the classic polyphony, especially of the Roman school, which reached its greatest perfection in the 15th century, owing to the works of Pierluigi da Palestrina.

The classic polyphony has been found worthy of a place side by side with the Gregorian chant in the more solemn functions of the church, and must be restored largely in ecclesiastical functions, especially in the more important basilicas, in cathedrals and in the churches and chapels of seminaries and other ecclesiastical institutions in which the necessary means are usually not lacking.

It is forbidden to sing anything whatever in the vernacular in solemn liturgical functions—much more to sing in the vernacular the variable or common parts of the mass and office.

Singers in church have a real liturgical office, and therefore women, as being incapable of exercising such office, cannot be admitted to form part of the choir or of the musical chapel. It will also be fitting that singers, while singing in church, wear the ecclesiastical habit and surplice, and that they be hidden behind gratings when the choir is excessively open to the public gaze.

The employment of piano is forbidden in church; it is strictly forbidden to have bands play in church; the use is forbidden also of noisy or frivolous instruments, such as drums, cymbals, bells and the like.

The encyclical will not have any effect on the special music being prepared by the St. Francis de Sales choir for Easter, for nowhere is the statement made that the change shall be immediate, but "as soon as possible."

LODGE OF CAMELS

Instituted in Newark Monday Night With a Charter Membership of Over 100--Zanesville Lodge Sends Big Delegation--Officers Elected.

Monday night witnessed the birth of a new fraternal and beneficial order in Newark. Monarch Lodge, No. 68, Minutemen Order of Camels was instituted in the A. P. U. hall by the Zanesville lodge amid all the omens that augur success. The new order starts with a membership of over one hundred and is equipped with the finest paraphernalia obtainable which would be practicable for such purposes. The Zanesville lodge was represented by almost a hundred members, who exerted themselves in every way to bring the institution of the new lodge to a successful termination.

Because of the stormy condition of the weather the parade was not the success it should have been. But it showed that the Camels are of a progressive nature. The parade was headed by the Buckeye band. Following the band came the supreme officers, Mr. A. A. George, eminent supreme ruler, and Dr. D. H. Crawford, supreme secretary, and prominent members of the Newark lodge in carriages. Then came the Zanesville lodge and the Newark charter class. The line of march was illuminated by red fire.

The ritualistic work consists of seven degrees. The Zanesville team had charge of the initiatory work and because of the elaborate nature of the same almost the entire night was consumed in giving degrees.

Immediately following the degree work the election of officers for the new lodge occurred. The election was as follows: Eminent Ruler, E. F. McDonald; Vice Eminent Ruler, J. W. Rutledge; High Priest, George Hermann; Costumer, H. H. Bentz; Secretary, Dr. S. H. McCleery; Treasurer, E. W. Crayton; Master at Arms, Dr. C. B. Keller; Medical Inspector, Dr. J. G. Shirer; Guide, Leonard Graham; Sentinel, Frank Belcher; Picket, William Weekly; Lodge Deputy, Jos. M. Spetle; Degree Team, Eminent Ruler, Wm. T. Curry; Vice Eminent Ruler, Ed. Hurlbough; High Priest, Follin Williams; Master at Arms, Clyde Crilly; Trustees, Harry Bailey, three years, Joseph Moser, two years, Charles Bader, one year.

The new officers were inducted into office by the supreme officers after their election. Arrangements have not been made for the lodge room or for the regular meeting night.

The ritualistic work was interrupted by the serving of a banquet.

The Zanesville members returned to their homes in the City at 6 o'clock this morning. The Newark lodge is the largest force of Camels yet instituted. The success achieved is largely due to the work of Mr.

Scott T. Power, who has had charge of the organization work.

Another lodge of Camels will be instituted at Hartford, Guernsey county, this evening.

At this critical stage in the career of the Minutemen Order of Camels, the formative period of its existence, the organization is fortunate in having at its helm men of such rare executive ability and business qualities as the supreme officers, Mr. A. A. George and Dr. D. H. Crawford. These gentlemen are centering their best endeavors to bring the young society to the importance of the older fraternal societies and from present appearances their efforts are not being spent in vain. In all probability the members of the Newark lodge will be called upon to participate in installation work in the near future as lodges will be at once organized in neighboring cities and towns.

The well known quartet, composed of Messrs. Martin Goss, W. F. Spitzer, John Langan and Fred Vautrin are members of the new Newark lodge and favored the lodge with several selections during the evening.

Following is the charter list of Monarch Lodge, No. 68: George Wiles, Earl D. Carlin, James Mills, Dr. E. G. Youell, Sylvester Beadle, R. P. Williams, Ed. Criss, J. B. Hurlbough, Ed. Hankinson, William Weekly, C. L. Holtz, C. Hurlbough, Harry E. Hunt, J. R. Moser, C. E. Bossgs, H. T. Imhoff, S. Berry, Wm. Hurlbough, J. B. Pickerson, John Bell, G. F. Wright, C. Bader, Ralph Schriber, Frank Duncan, Oscar Morgan, Theodore Caw, Dr. J. E. Jones, Frank Robinson, Raymond Smith, Albert Day, Phil. Lamb, J. Oglesby, S. H. Irvine, J. W. McFarland, Ollie Haines, Henry Kessneck, W. H. Cocanour, Wm. P. Laury, Fred Vaulrais, Walter Spitzer, Martin Goss, John Langan, John Bower, E. B. Gaumer, J. G. Shirer, R. H. Shirer, Dr. S. H. McCleery, R. F. McDonald, J. V. Hilliard, J. H. Wilson, Harry Lytle, Leonard Graham, B. D. Graham, C. G. Crilly, C. S. Hamrick, C. H. Bentz, H. A. Bailey, A. E. Williams, G. E. Makley, E. W. Crayton, E. Collins, Ray Sayre, Earl Sayre, Fred Sayre, R. E. McCullough, C. B. Keller, G. C. Hurlbough, L. R. Shodley, George Hermann, C. D. O'Hara, W. L. Palmer, John Adams, O. E. Seward, Frank Wanderlie, Turner Rine, Chas. McNeal, J. U. Forsythe, D. G. Woodard, Frank Scott, Wm. Whitehead, A. B. Pine, W. B. Wollard, E. Crist, E. F. Crist, Wm. Burnell, J. H. Spetle, J. W. Rutledge, John Keller, W. F. Seymore, Smith Rodman, W. T. Curry, Charles Bader, W. Atherton, E. C. Spitzer, Dr. Harry E. Hunt.

Colds are Dangerous

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by all druggists.

Ticket No. 137 draws vase of last Saturday's drawing. Please call for same. Crown Dental Parlors, Harry Williams, R. D. No. 2 held the lucky No. 99 of Saturday, week ago.

Pipe Shamrocks for St. Patrick's Day at Mrs. J. L. Miller's, East Side of Square. 3-15-21

Through the "Suez" in 1903 passed 25,000,000 tons of freight—three times as much as was carried on the Suez canal.

Taylor's horse radish cream. Ask your grocer for it. 3-9-19*

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

LINNVILLE

Mr. A. Selles and wife, who have been on the sick list, are much improved.

John Orr, who has been on the sick list, is improving.

John Leary and daughter, Emma, have moved to Jacksontown.

James Frush and family have moved on the John Burge property.

Andrew Hartsough, who has been very ill with grip is slowly improving.

Charles Orr will move on the Linn farm in April.

Charles Lawrence will move on his farm north of Amsterdam this week. J. W. Patterson of Newark was the guest of his parents Sunday.

John Frush purchased a valuable mare last week.

Mrs. David Hartsough returned home Sunday after visiting her son and parents.

Mrs. Cora Gutridge of Columbus is visiting relatives around this vicinity.

Tone Goldsmith and wife were the guests of the latter's parents at Jacksontown Sunday.

CHATHAM.

Mr. Tom Stream and sister, Mrs. Carlisle of Newark, visited their parents here Sunday.

Miss Hattie Green, who is teaching school at High Water, has been spending a week's vacation at home.

Miss Gay Preston visited relatives in Newark Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Jacob Blinn was in Johnstown last Friday.

Rev. Mr. Davis has purchased a new rubber-tire buggy.

The N. C. Comedy company will give an entertainment at the hall next Saturday evening.

Mrs. Annie Stream of Newton Chapel, is visiting Mrs. Retta Stream.

Mr. Fred Blinn and Mr. David Brown have purchased a new saw-mill.

Mr. Will Gray of Columbus visited his parents here a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chase of Knox county, visited relatives here a few days last week.

Try WHITE SWAN flour. Made at R. C. Bigbee's new up-to-date Sifter System mill. New phone 228. 10-15-14

LAMB & PALMER

19 West Main Street,

We will offer beginning March 12 Saturday, the following for one week.

Potatoes, per bu.	$1.00	Peckamie Baking Molasses, per can	.08
Tomatoes, per can	.07	1 lb Bulk Mince Meat	.08
Canned Corn, Excelsior, per can	.10	1 can Borax Dye	.04
Arbuckles, Lion, Tracy Navy Coffee, per lb	.11	1 can Lewis Dye	.07
Dutch Java, per lb	.16	1 lb Pepper, ground	.25
Evaporated Peaches, 4lb	.25	1 lb Cinamoun, ground	.25
Pure Kettle-rendered Lard, per lb	.10	1 lb Cloves, ground	.25
Hominy, per qt.	.06	1 lb Allspice, ground	.25
One qt. Pan-cake Syrup	.07	Four Brothers Axle Grease, per box	.08
Best French Mustard, per qt.	.05	2 cans Boston Baked Beans	.25
Rub-No-More, per package	.03
Fairbanks Scouring Soap, 2 bars	.25	We will offer the following in Liquor Department:
Best Sweet Pickles, per doz.	.08	1 qt. Apricot brand	.75
Canned Peaches, per can	.12	1 qt. Coniac brand	.75
Tacks, per box	.07	1 qt. Malt Whiskey	.75
Dry Salt Meat, per lb	.07	1 qt. Bourbon Whiskey	.50
Ketchup, three bottles	.25	1 qt. Rye Whiskey	.75
Canned Beans, string, 3 cans	.25	1 qt. Sherry Wine	.55
One lb Baking Powder	.09	1 qt. Angelica Wine	.35
Pickled Mess Pork, per lb	.10	1 qt. Muscatel Wine	.35
Styron, Beggs & Co's. Ammonia, per bottle	.07	1 qt. Port Wine	.35
Styron, Beggs & Co's. Blueing, per bottle	.07	1 qt. Rock and Rye	.75
		1 qt. Gin	.75

In Saturday's ad it was announced through typographical error that we would sell six bars of Easy Task Soap for 25 cents and eight bars of Star and Lennox Soap for 25 cents. This was a mistake, the prices on these articles being regular.

LAMB & PALMER

Trading Stamps With Every Purchase.

Ebersole Pianos

Absolutely Durable.

A Small Monthly Payment Secures One : :
A. L. Rawlings
North Side Square.

New Trimmings, Braids and Laces.

Tell us what sort of a suit or gown you want to trim and we can show you an effective and appropriate trimming to put on it.

Lots of odd designs and novel effects are to be seen among the new bands, passementeries, appliques, garnitures and braids—a greater number of elegant things, probably, than we ever had before for dress embellishment.

J. W. HANSBERGER

THE BUSY STORE.

WE GIVE STAMPS.

HER WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

Miss Katherine L. Farley of 65 Weir Street, Taunton, Was About To go to the Hospital in Consumption When Father John's Medicine Cured Her—Doctors Said She Could Not be Cured—Cures Colds and all Throat and Lung Troubles.

I have found Father John's Medicine to be a wonderful cure. I had a very severe cold in September and did not think anything about it until I was obliged to take the bed. The doctors said I was in the first stages of consumption and that there was no cure for me. I was just about to enter the Taunton Emergency Hospital when a friend of mine advised me to try your medicine. I got a bottle and after taking it, I was able to sit up in bed and in a short time I was up and around the house and now I am well and strong. I would not be without a bottle of Father John's Medicine.

In the house, I have recommended it to many of my friends and they are very much pleased with it. I will gladly give you permission to add my name to the list of those who can say what I say is true. I will also be pleased to answer any letters or talk with any one who will call or write to me at my home. (Signed) Miss Katherine L. Farley, 65 Weir St., Taunton, Mass.

Cure all throat and lung troubles. Not a patent medicine. I free from poisonous drugs or alcohol. 50 years of experience. Father John's Medicine for sale in Newark by J. W. Collins & Son.

DO YOU COUGH?
DON'T BE LAZY
KEMP'S BALSAM
It Cures Coughs, Croup, Sore Throat, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Asthma. A certain cure for Consumption in first stages, and a sure relief in advanced stages. It cures the first cough. Sold by dealers everywhere. Large bottles 25 cents and 50 cents.

Without Doubt

One of Our Little Banks
Will help you save small sums at home and lay the foundation for a large account with our savings department.
We'll loan you the small bank free, 4 per cent interest allowed on savings deposits and certificates of deposit.
We solicit banking business of all kinds.

The Newark Trust Co.
Doty House Block.

Awful Sciatica-Rheumatism

However deep seated the pain, Hinkley's Bone Liniment reaches and cures it quickly. It goes to the bone, and Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout and pain of any name yield speedily to its power. Famous for fifty years, and only 25 cents a bottle.

"I have used Hinkley's Bone Liniment with great satisfaction for years. My hand was drawn out of shape, but this Liniment helped me more than any other remedy I ever used."—F. E. Sayles, Grand Rapids.

And but 25 cents a bottle, yet every bottle a complete "family medicine chest" in itself. The druggist sells it.

Hinkley Bone Liniment Co., Saginaw, Mich., U.S.A.
For Sale by COLLINS & SON, F. D. HALL and R. W. SMITH, Newark.

DR. R. A. BARRICK
DENTIST.
Three specialties, good advice, first class work and moderate charges. If you want good work on all I ask. Work and charges warranted to be satisfactory. Vitalized air administered for extracting teeth without pain.
Office 13-15 North Third St., Newark, O.

SAMUEL M. HUNTER,
Attorney and Counselor at Law.
Office over Horner & Edmonson's Book Store, south of Doty House.
Will practice in Licking and adjoining counties. Special attention given to collections, correspondence and the business of executors, administrators and guardians.

Are You About to Clean House?
Why not brighten your walls by using
ELECTRIC Wall Paper CLEANER
A very simple preparation: no mixing. Just roll it over the wall paper and dirt comes off as if by magic.
Only 25c per Box.
Ernest T. Johnson
Druggist.
Hotel Warden Block.

TERRIBLE
New Japanese Explosives Tear Men Literally to Atoms—The Concussion is Frightful.
Scout, March 15.—Have had an interesting interview with Dr. Wada, chief surgeon of the hospital at Chempulpo, where 24 men are lying, who were wounded on the Variag, on the effects of the new Japanese high explosive shells. The fuse acts on contact with water, clothing or anything. When the shells burst, the fragments range in size from few centimeters to pin heads and tear men to atoms within a small, but undefined radius, outside of which it inflicts wounds, which are generally slight.
On the bridge of the Variag the captain and four men were struck by a bursting shell. A petty officer disappeared completely and only an arm of another was found. Sailors had flesh torn from their legs. Captain Rudinoff was only slightly wounded.
One sailor had 120 wounds from fragments of one shell, but recovered. The concussion of these shells benumbs the nerves and cause strong men to tremble and weep.
Dr. Wada recommends washing the bodies of men and disinfecting clothing before battle to prevent pieces of cloth causing wounds to suppurate.

How's This?
We offer One Hundred Dollars reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.
F. J. CHENEY, Prop., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.
West & Traux, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.
Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.
Hall's Family Pills are the best.

University is Tottering on the Brink of Financial Ruin and Call is Issued to Tiffin Citizens.

HEIDELBERG
University is Tottering on the Brink of Financial Ruin and Call is Issued to Tiffin Citizens.
Tiffin, O., March 15.—The financial situation at Heidelberg university is so critical, and the interests of the university demand such immediate and strenuous action, that Mayor Feister, of this city, has issued a proclamation, calling the citizens of Tiffin to meet in the High School auditorium tomorrow evening to discuss measures for raising the $50,000 upon which depends the paying of the $700,000 conditional pledges which have been made. The press of this vicinity is ringing with urgent appeals to the public-spirited citizens to come forward in the hour of Heidelberg's extremity and do their part toward retaining the university in this city and toward making it a school of more recognition.

RESOLUTIONS.
At a regular meeting of Golden Rod Lodge, A. A. U. W., No. 100, held Monday evening, March 14, 1904, the following resolutions were adopted:
Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in His all-wise providence to remove from our midst, our worthy brother, John W. Youngman, who was killed in the Newark B. & O. yards, on the morning of March 7, 1904.
Resolved, That in the death of our brother, the lodge has lost a true and devoted member, the bereaved wife a loving husband, and we earnestly pray that God in His infinite mercy will enable her and us fraternally, to bear up under our sad bereavement, in Christian spirit and resignation, and humbly submit to the Divine will.
Resolved, That as a tribute of respect to the memory of our departed brother, we drape our charter in mourning for thirty days, and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, and a copy be given the grief-stricken wife of the deceased and published in the city papers.
E. R. STEWART,
R. F. WILLIAMS,
S. E. SMITH,
Committee.

Wakeup Children.
For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth street, Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep out two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it hard for the parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by all druggists.

Elkhart Store Burns.
Elkhart, Ind., March 15.—Fire here today totally destroyed H. B. Sykes & Company's fine new department store. Falling walls injured three firemen and two bystanders. John Middleton and J. W. Wheaton. The loss will reach over $100,000; insurance, $70,000.

Wakeful Children.
For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth street, Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep out two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it hard for the parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by all druggists.

TONSILINE CURES SORE THROAT.
A curious sight on the coast of Java is a long stretch of shore, about twenty-nine miles in length, where the sand is filled with particles of magnetic iron. In some places it is said that the surface sand contains 80 per cent of iron. It can be smelted, and a company has been formed to exploit the deposits.
Georgia will get $250,000 net out of a recent award of convict labor. Fifteen hundred convicts have recently been let out to contractors in that state. In the states where convict labor is so farmed out the average bid per head is $225 per year.

TONSILINE CURES SORE THROAT.
Before and After using Tonsiline.

FATHER
Raised Man's Head and Then Fainted from Horror.
Louisville, Ky., March 15.—Hugh Higgins, 21, son of William Higgins, editor of the Louisville Irish American, shot himself through the heart today. His father heard the shot and was told by the employees that someone had killed himself in the toilet room. He went to the room and found a body in a chair with the head bent forward. Higgins raised it, and saw that it was his son. He fainted from horror. A love affair is suspected as the cause.

FELL DEAD
AS HE RAISED A CHAIR TO STRIKE HIS WIFE.
Two Deaths at Marietta Occur Under Extraordinary Circumstances —Octogenarian Suicides

Marietta, O., March 15.—Andy Kowall engaged in a quarrel with his wife, and just as he raised a chair to strike her, he fell in a heap on the floor. A physician was called and he found that death had resulted instantly.
Robert Orr, aged 85, residing by himself at Beverly, this county, hanged himself to a bedpost and was dead when found by neighbors. He was a regular old man and refused to live with his relatives.

KING SULLY SECURES ONE MORE SEAT
New York, March 15.—Sully has added another cotton exchange seat to those already held by his firm.
He bought at open auction the membership on the local exchange of J. H. Jenkins, a member of the Baltimore firm of E. Morrison & Co., which failed some time ago. He paid $10,700 for the seat.
Sully's firm now has a number of memberships in its name and it was said the bull leader purchased the seat in order to have an assistant on the floor to help him with his business, which now more than one man handle. The price paid is equal to the record.

INSTITUTIONS
Of State Cost Nearly Three Millions the Past Year—A Marked Increase.
Columbus, O., March 15.—The annual statement of the state board of charities filed with Governor Herrick shows the expense of maintaining the seventeen state institutions for the year 1903 aggregated $2,704,759.87 as against $2,592,092.56 for 1902. The increase per capita was $4.55. The report says "the large increase per capita cost is undoubtedly due to increased salaries provided by law."

When you want fresh cut flowers, phone Baldwin's green house. Prompt delivery.
1-2731

His Years.
Poor Foeble (about to be operated on for appendicitis)—Doctor, before you begin I wish you would send and have our pastor, the Rev. Mr. Harps, come over.
Dr. Cutter—Certainly, if you wish it, but—
"I'd like to be opened with prayer."—Life.

Repartee.
Madame—I didn't hear you last night when you came in.
Monsieur—Hah! That accounts for it!
Madame—Accounts for what?
Monsieur—The fact that I didn't hear you!

Wipped in the Bed.
Actress—I have been robbed of my jewels.
Hotel Clerk—It won't do any good. There isn't a policeman in the town.
A wheelman's tool has isn't complete without a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Heals cuts, bruises, stings, sprains, Monarch over pain.

BRANNOCK BILL
Amended to Give District Local Option —The Measure Postponed Till Wednesday, March 16.
Columbus, O., March 15.—The liquor interests scored the first blood last evening when the temperance committee of the house reported upon the Brannock local option bill.
The committee favorably reported the bill, so amended as to make it read for district rather than ward local option. A minority report followed, which provided local option by petition in residence streets.
Representative Wayne, of Cincinnati, who offered the minority report, moved that the two amended bills be printed and set as a special order for Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.
Representative Crist, of Columbus, opposed the motion and sought to secure the immediate adoption of the majority report. Brannock, of Clermont, sponsor for the original bill, supported Crist.
After a rather heated discussion, the motion to postpone until Wednesday carried by a vote of 44 to 29.

LICKING.
Mrs. John Lartmore hospitably opened her home to the Women's Circle Friday afternoon and although the weather was discouraging, the number present was encouraging and a fine lot of work was begun on articles that will be sold at Mrs. Ford's social.
Mrs. Hirschberger of Newark, visited Mrs. Wm. Lawver during the past week.
As Fern and Mary Stone were going home from church Sunday morning their horse became unmanageable, and threw them out of the buggy, slightly injuring them. Eliza Sands, who was driving, was considerably bruised. At the same time and place Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boucher were thrown from their buggy, and the buggy was badly shattered by the kicking of the horse.
Don't forget the peanut social at Wm. Lawver's home Friday evening, March 19, given by the B. Y. P. U. A good supper, including cream and cake.
Mr. J. S. West of Denison University, preached at Licking Sunday morning in the absence of Pastor McCall.
Those from this neighborhood, who attended the Anti-Saloon meeting at Hebron, Sunday evening, reported a good attendance.
Mrs. Fred Stodler of Jackson town, spent the past week at the home of her father, Mr. Eugene Blade.
Mrs. Benjamin Haynes has been quite ill during this last week.
Mr. James Fulk has removed his family from Mr. Lawver's place to the house vacated by Mr. Blade.
Pastor McCall is still at West Jefferson assisting in revival services.
The social at Mrs. Ford's home on Tuesday evening, March 29th, promises to be well attended. Cream and cake will be served. All are cordially invited.

The Mysterious ... Messenger
[Original.]
People not in the army are apt to fancy that the families of soldiers are always prepared for those partings consequent upon the breaking out of war. This is not so. When an army woman is obliged to part with a husband, a son or both, knowing that there are many chances that they will not return to her, she suffers accordingly.
When the war with the Modoc Indians broke out in the early seventies Captain Winterton left his bride at a frontier post and marched with his command to the lava beds. There he fought while the wife worried and fretted till the close of the struggle. One day she was sitting in the living room of her quarters endeavoring to divert her mind by reading or sewing from the dangers to which he was exposed, when there came a tap at the door, and a young soldier—a mere boy of eighteen—entered and held out to her a letter, on which she saw at a glance the superscription in her husband's handwriting. The young soldier was very pale, and she noticed that though the weather was fine his clothes were soaked with water. But she was too eager to read the message to dwell upon this, and, seizing it, she carried it to an open window for a better light to read it. It, too, was soaked with water, and the lines were badly blurred. She managed to make out that the war was over, and Captain Winterton would soon return to her, though since he must accompany his command it would yet be a few days. Then she turned to the young soldier. He was gone. The sudden vanishment so startled her that she dropped the letter on the window sill.
Astonished that she had not heard his step, she stepped into the hall, which was not carpeted and would surely resound under any tread, especially that of a booted soldier. She ran to the front door, expecting to see him walking across the "parade" to the soldiers' quarters, but no one except the sentries and a few loungers appeared. Starting back into the room, she went to the window to reread the letter, when she noticed that it was not there. The apartments were not far above the ground, and she looked out, expecting that it had blown out of the window and was lying below. She did not see it and went outside to look for it, but without success.
She was frightened. She dreaded lest this strange message from her husband, coming in such uncanny fashion, was a prelude to bad news. She sent a request for the officer in command of the post to visit her, and when he came she told him the story. He declared that to his knowledge no messenger had come from the lava beds, but he would make sure by inquiry of the officer of the day. That officer replied that no such messenger had been seen at the post.
In the evening the post surgeon called on Mrs. Winterton at the commandant's suggestion, ostensibly to ask for news from her husband, but really to see if she was not overwrought by anxiety. He found her pale and nervous, but could detect nothing further. It was the opinion of the officers and their families that the mysterious courier and the letter were the creation of Mrs. Winterton's brain. No one except herself had seen either courier or letter. The soldier could not have got into the post without having been seen by the sentry at the gate and the one pacing before the officers' quarters.
The "police" squad, whose duty it was to pick up every bit of paper that littered the inclosure, was instructed to look out for the letter, but they never produced it. Mrs. Winterton's nervousness increased to hysteria, and word was sent to her husband to return as soon as possible. He obtained leave to do so and at once set out for the fort. The commandant met him before he saw his wife and told him of the vision, or whatever it might be, that had visited Mrs. Winterton.
Winterton stood aghast. It was some time before he could reply to inquiries as to his astonishment, but at last he said:
"They say the dead cannot visit us. I have just had evidence that they can. Young Harding, the messenger, was as devoted to me as ever was soldier to his commander. He was the son of a banker in the east, and, being ambitious to be a soldier, he enlisted and would have now been promoted. He was a pet of mine, and twice during this war I saved his life, once by crawling into him beyond our firing line, where he had been left after a retreat and could not raise his head without getting a bullet through it; again by forcing him to the ground a moment before a storm of bullets was sent over our works. As soon as hostilities had ceased I chose him to take the news to my wife. On my way here I learned that he was pursued by Indians who had not given up the struggle and was drowned attempting to swim his horse across a river."
It was decided not to encourage Mrs. Winterton in the belief that she had been visited by the dead. By the surgeon's advice, her husband feigned to be ignorant of the messenger and told her that it had been reported to him that she had been ill and, about the time of young Harding's supposed arrival on the borders of delirium, Mrs. Winterton, however, could not be deceived, and after a time when she was in a better physical condition, her husband admitted the facts. The admission did not alter her feelings in the matter. Ever since the mysterious visit she has had a habit of waking in the early morning and seeing again in fancy the dear old boy standing before her holding out to her the water stained note.

THE OLD MADE NEW.
SOME THINGS THE FASHION BUILDERS ARE PUTTING FORWARD.
The Attractive Louis Styles of the Present—Modes of 1820—The Sleeve All Important—Smart Small Items Concerning the Modes.
The best and most exclusive modes of today point to Louis XV. and Louis XVI. periods, the latter in particular being a period of fashions refined, delicately sumptuous, artificial if you like yet indescribably graceful. It appears within the probabilities that woman-kind is again to accommodate itself to some extent to the long pointed bodice the full skirt opening "robe fashion" over a petticoat of different material and to a bewildering array of tiny ruffles or broad ruffles.
The long shoulder line of both day and evening gowns leads in the latter

THE Mysterious ... Messenger
[Original.]
People not in the army are apt to fancy that the families of soldiers are always prepared for those partings consequent upon the breaking out of war. This is not so. When an army woman is obliged to part with a husband, a son or both, knowing that there are many chances that they will not return to her, she suffers accordingly.
When the war with the Modoc Indians broke out in the early seventies Captain Winterton left his bride at a frontier post and marched with his command to the lava beds. There he fought while the wife worried and fretted till the close of the struggle. One day she was sitting in the living room of her quarters endeavoring to divert her mind by reading or sewing from the dangers to which he was exposed, when there came a tap at the door, and a young soldier—a mere boy of eighteen—entered and held out to her a letter, on which she saw at a glance the superscription in her husband's handwriting. The young soldier was very pale, and she noticed that though the weather was fine his clothes were soaked with water. But she was too eager to read the message to dwell upon this, and, seizing it, she carried it to an open window for a better light to read it. It, too, was soaked with water, and the lines were badly blurred. She managed to make out that the war was over, and Captain Winterton would soon return to her, though since he must accompany his command it would yet be a few days. Then she turned to the young soldier. He was gone. The sudden vanishment so startled her that she dropped the letter on the window sill.
Astonished that she had not heard his step, she stepped into the hall, which was not carpeted and would surely resound under any tread, especially that of a booted soldier. She ran to the front door, expecting to see him walking across the "parade" to the soldiers' quarters, but no one except the sentries and a few loungers appeared. Starting back into the room, she went to the window to reread the letter, when she noticed that it was not there. The apartments were not far above the ground, and she looked out, expecting that it had blown out of the window and was lying below. She did not see it and went outside to look for it, but without success.
She was frightened. She dreaded lest this strange message from her husband, coming in such uncanny fashion, was a prelude to bad news. She sent a request for the officer in command of the post to visit her, and when he came she told him the story. He declared that to his knowledge no messenger had come from the lava beds, but he would make sure by inquiry of the officer of the day. That officer replied that no such messenger had been seen at the post.
In the evening the post surgeon called on Mrs. Winterton at the commandant's suggestion, ostensibly to ask for news from her husband, but really to see if she was not overwrought by anxiety. He found her pale and nervous, but could detect nothing further. It was the opinion of the officers and their families that the mysterious courier and the letter were the creation of Mrs. Winterton's brain. No one except herself had seen either courier or letter. The soldier could not have got into the post without having been seen by the sentry at the gate and the one pacing before the officers' quarters.
The "police" squad, whose duty it was to pick up every bit of paper that littered the inclosure, was instructed to look out for the letter, but they never produced it. Mrs. Winterton's nervousness increased to hysteria, and word was sent to her husband to return as soon as possible. He obtained leave to do so and at once set out for the fort. The commandant met him before he saw his wife and told him of the vision, or whatever it might be, that had visited Mrs. Winterton.
Winterton stood aghast. It was some time before he could reply to inquiries as to his astonishment, but at last he said:
"They say the dead cannot visit us. I have just had evidence that they can. Young Harding, the messenger, was as devoted to me as ever was soldier to his commander. He was the son of a banker in the east, and, being ambitious to be a soldier, he enlisted and would have now been promoted. He was a pet of mine, and twice during this war I saved his life, once by crawling into him beyond our firing line, where he had been left after a retreat and could not raise his head without getting a bullet through it; again by forcing him to the ground a moment before a storm of bullets was sent over our works. As soon as hostilities had ceased I chose him to take the news to my wife. On my way here I learned that he was pursued by Indians who had not given up the struggle and was drowned attempting to swim his horse across a river."
It was decided not to encourage Mrs. Winterton in the belief that she had been visited by the dead. By the surgeon's advice, her husband feigned to be ignorant of the messenger and told her that it had been reported to him that she had been ill and, about the time of young Harding's supposed arrival on the borders of delirium, Mrs. Winterton, however, could not be deceived, and after a time when she was in a better physical condition, her husband admitted the facts. The admission did not alter her feelings in the matter. Ever since the mysterious visit she has had a habit of waking in the early morning and seeing again in fancy the dear old boy standing before her holding out to her the water stained note.

THE OLD MADE NEW.
SOME THINGS THE FASHION BUILDERS ARE PUTTING FORWARD.
The Attractive Louis Styles of the Present—Modes of 1820—The Sleeve All Important—Smart Small Items Concerning the Modes.
The best and most exclusive modes of today point to Louis XV. and Louis XVI. periods, the latter in particular being a period of fashions refined, delicately sumptuous, artificial if you like yet indescribably graceful. It appears within the probabilities that woman-kind is again to accommodate itself to some extent to the long pointed bodice the full skirt opening "robe fashion" over a petticoat of different material and to a bewildering array of tiny ruffles or broad ruffles.
The long shoulder line of both day and evening gowns leads in the latter

THE Mysterious ... Messenger
[Original.]
People not in the army are apt to fancy that the families of soldiers are always prepared for those partings consequent upon the breaking out of war. This is not so. When an army woman is obliged to part with a husband, a son or both, knowing that there are many chances that they will not return to her, she suffers accordingly.
When the war with the Modoc Indians broke out in the early seventies Captain Winterton left his bride at a frontier post and marched with his command to the lava beds. There he fought while the wife worried and fretted till the close of the struggle. One day she was sitting in the living room of her quarters endeavoring to divert her mind by reading or sewing from the dangers to which he was exposed, when there came a tap at the door, and a young soldier—a mere boy of eighteen—entered and held out to her a letter, on which she saw at a glance the superscription in her husband's handwriting. The young soldier was very pale, and she noticed that though the weather was fine his clothes were soaked with water. But she was too eager to read the message to dwell upon this, and, seizing it, she carried it to an open window for a better light to read it. It, too, was soaked with water, and the lines were badly blurred. She managed to make out that the war was over, and Captain Winterton would soon return to her, though since he must accompany his command it would yet be a few days. Then she turned to the young soldier. He was gone. The sudden vanishment so startled her that she dropped the letter on the window sill.
Astonished that she had not heard his step, she stepped into the hall, which was not carpeted and would surely resound under any tread, especially that of a booted soldier. She ran to the front door, expecting to see him walking across the "parade" to the soldiers' quarters, but no one except the sentries and a few loungers appeared. Starting back into the room, she went to the window to reread the letter, when she noticed that it was not there. The apartments were not far above the ground, and she looked out, expecting that it had blown out of the window and was lying below. She did not see it and went outside to look for it, but without success.
She was frightened. She dreaded lest this strange message from her husband, coming in such uncanny fashion, was a prelude to bad news. She sent a request for the officer in command of the post to visit her, and when he came she told him the story. He declared that to his knowledge no messenger had come from the lava beds, but he would make sure by inquiry of the officer of the day. That officer replied that no such messenger had been seen at the post.
In the evening the post surgeon called on Mrs. Winterton at the commandant's suggestion, ostensibly to ask for news from her husband, but really to see if she was not overwrought by anxiety. He found her pale and nervous, but could detect nothing further. It was the opinion of the officers and their families that the mysterious courier and the letter were the creation of Mrs. Winterton's brain. No one except herself had seen either courier or letter. The soldier could not have got into the post without having been seen by the sentry at the gate and the one pacing before the officers' quarters.
The "police" squad, whose duty it was to pick up every bit of paper that littered the inclosure, was instructed to look out for the letter, but they never produced it. Mrs. Winterton's nervousness increased to hysteria, and word was sent to her husband to return as soon as possible. He obtained leave to do so and at once set out for the fort. The commandant met him before he saw his wife and told him of the vision, or whatever it might be, that had visited Mrs. Winterton.
Winterton stood aghast. It was some time before he could reply to inquiries as to his astonishment, but at last he said:
"They say the dead cannot visit us. I have just had evidence that they can. Young Harding, the messenger, was as devoted to me as ever was soldier to his commander. He was the son of a banker in the east, and, being ambitious to be a soldier, he enlisted and would have now been promoted. He was a pet of mine, and twice during this war I saved his life, once by crawling into him beyond our firing line, where he had been left after a retreat and could not raise his head without getting a bullet through it; again by forcing him to the ground a moment before a storm of bullets was sent over our works. As soon as hostilities had ceased I chose him to take the news to my wife. On my way here I learned that he was pursued by Indians who had not given up the struggle and was drowned attempting to swim his horse across a river."
It was decided not to encourage Mrs. Winterton in the belief that she had been visited by the dead. By the surgeon's advice, her husband feigned to be ignorant of the messenger and told her that it had been reported to him that she had been ill and, about the time of young Harding's supposed arrival on the borders of delirium, Mrs. Winterton, however, could not be deceived, and after a time when she was in a better physical condition, her husband admitted the facts. The admission did not alter her feelings in the matter. Ever since the mysterious visit she has had a habit of waking in the early morning and seeing again in fancy the dear old boy standing before her holding out to her the water stained note.

THE OLD MADE NEW.
SOME THINGS THE FASHION BUILDERS ARE PUTTING FORWARD.
The Attractive Louis Styles of the Present—Modes of 1820—The Sleeve All Important—Smart Small Items Concerning the Modes.
The best and most exclusive modes of today point to Louis XV. and Louis XVI. periods, the latter in particular being a period of fashions refined, delicately sumptuous, artificial if you like yet indescribably graceful. It appears within the probabilities that woman-kind is again to accommodate itself to some extent to the long pointed bodice the full skirt opening "robe fashion" over a petticoat of different material and to a bewildering array of tiny ruffles or broad ruffles.
The long shoulder line of both day and evening gowns leads in the latter

THE Mysterious ... Messenger
[Original.]
People not in the army are apt to fancy that the families of soldiers are always prepared for those partings consequent upon the breaking out of war. This is not so. When an army woman is obliged to part with a husband, a son or both, knowing that there are many chances that they will not return to her, she suffers accordingly.
When the war with the Modoc Indians broke out in the early seventies Captain Winterton left his bride at a frontier post and marched with his command to the lava beds. There he fought while the wife worried and fretted till the close of the struggle. One day she was sitting in the living room of her quarters endeavoring to divert her mind by reading or sewing from the dangers to which he was exposed, when there came a tap at the door, and a young soldier—a mere boy of eighteen—entered and held out to her a letter, on which she saw at a glance the superscription in her husband's handwriting. The young soldier was very pale, and she noticed that though the weather was fine his clothes were soaked with water. But she was too eager to read the message to dwell upon this, and, seizing it, she carried it to an open window for a better light to read it. It, too, was soaked with water, and the lines were badly blurred. She managed to make out that the war was over, and Captain Winterton would soon return to her, though since he must accompany his command it would yet be a few days. Then she turned to the young soldier. He was gone. The sudden vanishment so startled her that she dropped the letter on the window sill.
Astonished that she had not heard his step, she stepped into the hall, which was not carpeted and would surely resound under any tread, especially that of a booted soldier. She ran to the front door, expecting to see him walking across the "parade" to the soldiers' quarters, but no one except the sentries and a few loungers appeared. Starting back into the room, she went to the window to reread the letter, when she noticed that it was not there. The apartments were not far above the ground, and she looked out, expecting that it had blown out of the window and was lying below. She did not see it and went outside to look for it, but without success.
She was frightened. She dreaded lest this strange message from her husband, coming in such uncanny fashion, was a prelude to bad news. She sent a request for the officer in command of the post to visit her, and when he came she told him the story. He declared that to his knowledge no messenger had come from the lava beds, but he would make sure by inquiry of the officer of the day. That officer replied that no such messenger had been seen at the post.
In the evening the post surgeon called on Mrs. Winterton at the commandant's suggestion, ostensibly to ask for news from her husband, but really to see if she was not overwrought by anxiety. He found her pale and nervous, but could detect nothing further. It was the opinion of the officers and their families that the mysterious courier and the letter were the creation of Mrs. Winterton's brain. No one except herself had seen either courier or letter. The soldier could not have got into the post without having been seen by the sentry at the gate and the one pacing before the officers' quarters.
The "police" squad, whose duty it was to pick up every bit of paper that littered the inclosure, was instructed to look out for the letter, but they never produced it. Mrs. Winterton's nervousness increased to hysteria, and word was sent to her husband to return as soon as possible. He obtained leave to do so and at once set out for the fort. The commandant met him before he saw his wife and told him of the vision, or whatever it might be, that had visited Mrs. Winterton.
Winterton stood aghast. It was some time before he could reply to inquiries as to his astonishment, but at last he said:
"They say the dead cannot visit us. I have just had evidence that they can. Young Harding, the messenger, was as devoted to me as ever was soldier to his commander. He was the son of a banker in the east, and, being ambitious to be a soldier, he enlisted and would have now been promoted. He was a pet of mine, and twice during this war I saved his life, once by crawling into him beyond our firing line, where he had been left after a retreat and could not raise his head without getting a bullet through it; again by forcing him to the ground a moment before a storm of bullets was sent over our works. As soon as hostilities had ceased I chose him to take the news to my wife. On my way here I learned that he was pursued by Indians who had not given up the struggle and was drowned attempting to swim his horse across a river."
It was decided not to encourage Mrs. Winterton in the belief that she had been visited by the dead. By the surgeon's advice, her husband feigned to be ignorant of the messenger and told her that it had been reported to him that she had been ill and, about the time of young Harding's supposed arrival on the borders of delirium, Mrs. Winterton, however, could not be deceived, and after a time when she was in a better physical condition, her husband admitted the facts. The admission did not alter her feelings in the matter. Ever since the mysterious visit she has had a habit of waking in the early morning and seeing again in fancy the dear old boy standing before her holding out to her the water stained note.

THE OLD MADE NEW.
SOME THINGS THE FASHION BUILDERS ARE PUTTING FORWARD.
The Attractive Louis Styles of the Present—Modes of 1820—The Sleeve All Important—Smart Small Items Concerning the Modes.
The best and most exclusive modes of today point to Louis XV. and Louis XVI. periods, the latter in particular being a period of fashions refined, delicately sumptuous, artificial if you like yet indescribably graceful. It appears within the probabilities that woman-kind is again to accommodate itself to some extent to the long pointed bodice the full skirt opening "robe fashion" over a petticoat of different material and to a bewildering array of tiny ruffles or broad ruffles.
The long shoulder line of both day and evening gowns leads in the latter

THE Mysterious ... Messenger
[Original.]
People not in the army are apt to fancy that the families of soldiers are always prepared for those partings consequent upon the breaking out of war. This is not so. When an army woman is obliged to part with a husband, a son or both, knowing that there are many chances that they will not return to her, she suffers accordingly.
When the war with the Modoc Indians broke out in the early seventies Captain Winterton left his bride at a frontier post and marched with his command to the lava beds. There he fought while the wife worried and fretted till the close of the struggle. One day she was sitting in the living room of her quarters endeavoring to divert her mind by reading or sewing from the dangers to which he was exposed, when there came a tap at the door, and a young soldier—a mere boy of eighteen—entered and held out to her a letter, on which she saw at a glance the superscription in her husband's handwriting. The young soldier was very pale, and she noticed that though the weather was fine his clothes were soaked with water. But she was too eager to read the message to dwell upon this, and, seizing it, she carried it to an open window for a better light to read it. It, too, was soaked with water, and the lines were badly blurred. She managed to make out that the war was over, and Captain Winterton would soon return to her, though since he must accompany his command it would yet be a few days. Then she turned to the young soldier. He was gone. The sudden vanishment so startled her that she dropped the letter on the window sill.
Astonished that she had not heard his step, she stepped into the hall, which was not carpeted and would surely resound under any tread, especially that of a booted soldier. She ran to the front door, expecting to see him walking across the "parade" to the soldiers' quarters, but no one except the sentries and a few loungers appeared. Starting back into the room, she went to the window to reread the letter, when she noticed that it was not there. The apartments were not far above the ground, and she looked out, expecting that it had blown out of the window and was lying below. She did not see it and went outside to look for it, but without success.
She was frightened. She dreaded lest this strange message from her husband, coming in such uncanny fashion, was a prelude to bad news. She sent a request for the officer in command of the post to visit her, and when he came she told him the story. He declared that to his knowledge no messenger had come from the lava beds, but he would make sure by inquiry of the officer of the day. That officer replied that no such messenger had been seen at the post.
In the evening the post surgeon called on Mrs. Winterton at the commandant's suggestion, ostensibly to ask for news from her husband, but really to see if she was not overwrought by anxiety. He found her pale and nervous, but could detect nothing further. It was the opinion of the officers and their families that the mysterious courier and the letter were the creation of Mrs. Winterton's brain. No one except herself had seen either courier or letter. The soldier could not have got into the post without having been seen by the sentry at the gate and the one pacing before the officers' quarters.
The "police" squad, whose duty it was to pick up every bit of paper that littered the inclosure, was instructed to look out for the letter, but they never produced it. Mrs. Winterton's nervousness increased to hysteria, and word was sent to her husband to return as soon as possible. He obtained leave to do so and at once set out for the fort. The commandant met him before he saw his wife and told him of the vision, or whatever it might be, that had visited Mrs. Winterton.
Winterton stood aghast. It was some time before he could reply to inquiries as to his astonishment, but at last he said:
"They say the dead cannot visit us. I have just had evidence that they can. Young Harding, the messenger, was as devoted to me as ever was soldier to his commander. He was the son of a banker in the east, and, being ambitious to be a soldier, he enlisted and would have now been promoted. He was a pet of mine, and twice during this war I saved his life, once by crawling into him beyond our firing line, where he had been left after a retreat and could not raise his head without getting a bullet through it; again by forcing him to the ground a moment before a storm of bullets was sent over our works. As soon as hostilities had ceased I chose him to take the news to my wife. On my way here I learned that he was pursued by Indians who had not given up the struggle and was drowned attempting to swim his horse across a river."
It was decided not to encourage Mrs. Winterton in the belief that she had been visited by the dead. By the surgeon's advice, her husband feigned to be ignorant of the messenger and told her that it had been reported to him that she had been ill and, about the time of young Harding's supposed arrival on the borders of delirium, Mrs. Winterton, however, could not be deceived, and after a time when she was in a better physical condition, her husband admitted the facts. The admission did not alter her feelings in the matter. Ever since the mysterious visit she has had a habit of waking in the early morning and seeing again in fancy the dear old boy standing before her holding out to her the water stained note.

THE OLD MADE NEW.
SOME THINGS THE FASHION BUILDERS ARE PUTTING FORWARD.
The Attractive Louis Styles of the Present—Modes of 1820—The Sleeve All Important—Smart Small Items Concerning the Modes.
The best and most exclusive modes of today point to Louis XV. and Louis XVI. periods, the latter in particular being a period of fashions refined, delicately sumptuous, artificial if you like yet indescribably graceful. It appears within the probabilities that woman-kind is again to accommodate itself to some extent to the long pointed bodice the full skirt opening "robe fashion" over a petticoat of different material and to a bewildering array of tiny ruffles or broad ruffles.
The long shoulder line of both day and evening gowns leads in the latter

THE Mysterious ... Messenger
[Original.]
People not in the army are apt to fancy that the families of soldiers are always prepared for those partings consequent upon the breaking out of war. This is not so. When an army woman is obliged to part with a husband, a son or both, knowing that there are many chances that they will not return to her, she suffers accordingly.
When the war with the Modoc Indians broke out in the early seventies Captain Winterton left his bride at a frontier post and marched with his command to the lava beds. There he fought while the wife worried and fretted till the close of the struggle. One day she was sitting in the living room of her quarters endeavoring to divert her mind by reading or sewing from the dangers to which he was exposed, when there came a tap at the door, and a young soldier—a mere boy of eighteen—entered and held out to her a letter, on which she saw at a glance the superscription in her husband's handwriting. The young soldier was very pale, and she noticed that though the weather was fine his clothes were soaked with water. But she was too eager to read the message to dwell upon this, and, seizing it, she carried it to an open window for a better light to read it. It, too, was soaked with water, and the lines were badly blurred. She managed to make out that the war was over, and Captain Winterton would soon return to her, though since he must accompany his command it would yet be a few days. Then she turned to the young soldier. He was gone. The sudden vanishment so startled her that she dropped the letter on the window sill.
A

ELSIE'S GRAY HAT

By Maravene Kennedy

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McCutcheon

"The gray hats aren't a very pretty shade this year," said the saleslady. "Brown would look well with your hair. Here's a beauty."

"I'll take this gray one," said Elsie, unheeding.

In her own room she put the hat on and studied herself intently in the mirror. Brown would have been more becoming, she decided. She was too pale for gray now.

It had been six years since she had made that promise. It was just as she bade him goodbye. "You look like a pink rose in that gray hat, darling," he had said. "I shall expect to see your dear face under just such a hat when I come home." So for six years, summer and winter, she had worn a gray hat—six years in which she had heard from him but twice and that shortly after he left.

But she believed in him, loved, excused him. Aweary sometimes, but never despairing, she remained steadfast. He had gone to Africa; that was so far away and offered so many fine excuses. She feared always for his safety, but never his constancy.

It was a pretty face the mirror held, a sweet, womanly face, with a happy girlish smile. She turned away with a little sigh and went lightly down the steps into the street. It was a holiday, and school teaching was serious work with conscientious Elsie Wentworth. She was glad of the rest, the day outdoors, the sunshine and pure air.

"Where are you going, Elsie?" It was a man's voice and a man's eyes that gazed into hers, both telling their love for the slender creature in the gray hat.

A rich glow came to her pale cheeks. So stalwart and determined, she felt afraid of him, afraid he would make her love him, make her faithless to poor, absent Dave.

"I'm going to see Mrs. Young," she faltered.

He laughed. "It's too bad, dear. Go on to the woods, Elsie. I won't insist on going. I was on my way to your place. I had hoped for this day with you."

THE NEXT ONE CAME IN SLOWLY, A SLENDER, GRACEFUL CREATURE.

She laughed tremulously. "I wish you wouldn't hope, Jack. I'd like to have you—for a friend if only."

"I'd be content with that. Well, I won't. I want you for my wife, want to have a home with you in it, want to have you to go home to, want to work, plan, save, spend, for you. It's all you, Elsie. Are you really going to Mrs. Young's, dear?"

"Jack," she said firmly, "I don't love you. I will never marry you. This talk of yours makes me unhappy. Will you please not repeat it?"

"Not till I see you again," he said good humoredly. "Another gray hat, by Jove!" his eye catching its freshness. "I believe those gray hats are my hoodoo. Something is. You love me all right, my darling. Get a white hat, Elsie; white, trimmed with blue cornflowers, just the color of your eyes. I think you'd say 'Yes' then."

"I should—then." The strangeness of her voice held him. "Goodbye," she said lightly and hurried away.

Her eyes grew troubled, pensive. She did so want to see Dave. It came over her with a rush just how unhappy she was, how lonesome. Her heart ached almost to bursting. The woods no longer attracted her. She turned toward Mrs. Young's listlessly.

"You're all worn out," said that lady, with concern. "That gray hat takes the color out of your face too. Gray's not becoming, Elsie. Get a blue one next time."

"Or a green one," said Elsie irritably. Brown, white, blue, had been recommended. Why not green, red, purple? she thought desperately.

"You are worn out, that's sure," said Mrs. Young.

Elsie took off the despised gray hat and held it lovingly in her slim hands. It comforted her. She was soon chatting away gaily, but her head ached, and there was a strange heaviness weighing her down. She wanted to cry instead of laugh.

"Wait," said her friend as she was leaving. "I got a picture yesterday of Frank and Annie and a friend of theirs and her husband."

She handed Elsie the picture. There sure enough were Frank and Annie Young and—Elsie clutched wildly at the little card-board—Dave Brady, with a woman sitting arching on his knee, his eyes gazing at her adoringly.

"They had them taken that way just for fun," explained Mrs. Young. "Annie and Emma were friends years ago, and they came across each other last month at Manila. They've both been married the same length of time—three years—and there's not a month's difference in the ages of the children. Emma's is a girl, though."

Elsie rushed blindly out of the house. Dazed, she made her way home, the pretty head sadly drooping under the faithful gray hat. She laid it off and sat down beside it and gave way to tears, tears that pride had held back till she was away from prying eyes.

Three years! And she waiting, watching, hoping, loving. Wife and baby, home, love, everything to fill his life! And she? An orphan, living alone, no one to care whether she came or went, was glad or sorrowful. She sobbed on pitifully. All night long she lay awake, going over, year by year, the time between.

It was almost morning before she could believe that Dave was actually out of her life and—

She sat up in bed and laughed and cried all in a breath. It was most wonderful. She climbed out of bed, found the little gray hat and bit by bit tore it into shreds. She laughed again, then cried again, and all flushed and rosy, lay down and slept peacefully till long past sunup.

John Stewart sat in his office listening gravely to his patient recount his ills. He gave him a prescription, smiled, asked him about the children, bowed him out, smiled again and sat down to wait the next patient. They came oftener now. A few years before they had been few and far between.

The next one came in slowly, a slender, graceful creature, with fair, flushed face peering out shyly from under a soft white hat covered with blue cornflowers, the color of her eyes.

"Jack!" He turned quickly, gave one swift look and caught her in his arms. "Elsie, my darling!"

Dr. Stewart was certainly not slow witted.

"When—how?" he questioned, kissing her all in a breath.

She put her arms around his neck and hugged him tightly.

"Ever since I knew you," she whispered. "I've wanted you—you! Oh, Jack, I can never love you enough to make up for what I've missed."

He laughed, puzzled, but blissful. "Then why?" he asked.

She answered his kiss first, smiling and dimpled, then a frightened look flashed over the happy face. What—oh, what if Dave had been true, had come back! She hugged the doctor again frantically.

"It was the gray hat," she cried. "It was a hoodoo. I tore it up last night. I was never so happy as while pulling it to pieces."

And that was all the explanation she ever gave him, but he had the woman he loved and was as happy as is good for mortal to be.

As for Elsie, she wrote Dave a nice, friendly letter after she was married and sent his baby a present. She was so afraid he might have fleeting moments of remorse, and she felt that would hardly be fair. Which goes to show that a woman's reasoning is rather complex.

All Ready to Mourn.

Lucy is a smart young colored woman who officiates as maid of all work in a Brooklyn family. She is much esteemed by her mistress and the rest of the family, and all take a very friendly interest in Lucy and her affairs. When, on a recent "afternoon out," she appeared in a complete suit of mourning, several inquiries were made with regard to her bereavement, as she had said nothing about the recent death of any relative.

"How long have you been wearing mourning, Lucy?" asked her mistress.

"Well, 'm, this is just about the first time Ah's worn this yere suit, and it ain't eegzactly mohnin'."

"Not mourning?" was the reply. "Unless you were swathed in crape you couldn't wear much deeper mourning."

"Yass'm, Ah know de color's all right black enough, but Ah isn't really in mohnin' yet 'cause he isn't dald yet. You see, Ah's engaged to marry Clarence Jones, an' he's dald right low with an incurable disease. No'm; cahn't possibly git better. An' seel'n as Ah had to her a new dress Ah reckoned Ah might as well git mohnin' right now, then Ah'd be sure to hev it when Ah needed it."—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Meaning of "News."

Pennant, the naturalist and antiquary, in his "Account of London" (1790) says that "on the north side of Charing Cross stood the royal mews, where the king's falcons had been kept since the time of Richard III."

"News" is thought to be derived from the French meure, Latin mutare, to change or molt, and to have been used of a care for molting birds, as meute is used in France for a place in which horns shed by stags in the forest are kept by officials of the chase.

As time went on horses were kept in the inclosures used at first for hawks, and the old name was retained.

In this connection we may quote Dryden's line:

Nine times the moon hath mew'd her horns.

and Milton, who speaks of the eagle as "mewing its mighty youth"—i. e., fresher from its molting, and Shakespeare, who adopts the secondary meaning, "More pity that the eagle should be mew'd."

How the War Affects Some Japanese Servants

ALL the trouble and loss because of the war with Japan is not confined to Russia. Enough of it has come to the United States to make Americans, especially those who employ Japanese as servants, hope the fighting soon will be stopped. Every time a Russian battleship is sunk in the far east a platter goes down in New York. Every time a fleet is torpedoed there cups and saucers go to smash here. When the report came that the Japanese had been repulsed when trying to make a landing north of Port Arthur whole shelves were swept bare of china, and when Port Arthur falls it is feared every china closet in the city that is presided over by a Japanese will be littered with the wreckage of the potters' and the glass workers' art unless the mistresses of the houses are able to find other servants before the catastrophe.

C. O. Chenoweth, whose wife employs two Japanese servants, went home the other evening, and had scarcely had time to get out of his overcoat when Mrs. Chenoweth said:

"The Japanese won another battle today, didn't they?"

"How do you know?" asked her husband.

"I just heard another crash in the china closet," she replied. "I can always tell when there has been a battle by the noise there. In their excitement those Japs have broken more china in the last two weeks than in the previous four years. You'll have to give me a standing order for supplies in a china house or I'll have to get rid of the Japs. There's hardly a whole piece of china or glass left in the house."—New York Press.

Briefly Told Hard Luck Story.

The teacher of a primary grade in one of the public schools in the Eighteenth ward was made the confidant by a young pupil of the following hard luck story. The little chap is noted for a slowness of speech, which is offset, however, by a directness of statement that goes straight to the marrow of any subject. He said:

"Mi-ss J-o-n-e-s, pop wuz I-a-d-d-i-a horse I-a-s-t night, an' he dropped d-e-a-d."

"That's too bad, Johnnie. I—"

"Yes, ma-am, an' he 'ad j-u-s-t paid six-ty-ni-ne dollars for 'im," interrupted and concluded the youngster.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Unusually Clean.

Sunday School Teacher—Why, Jimmie, how pale you are!

Jimmie—I ain't pale. Some blame agent left a sample cake of soap at our house dis mornin'.

Very True.

Towne—He's had a great many ups and downs in his life.

Brown—He certainly has had a checkered career, but he's very wealthy now.

Towne—Yes; you might say that his career is ex-checkered now, eh?—Philadelphia Press.

The Punishment.

Towne—I never see anything of Skinner now. He did you one time, didn't he?

Brown—Yes, and that's what he's doing now.

Towne—What?

Brown—Time.—Philadelphia Ledger.

None Omitted.

"My wife told me when I got in at 1 o'clock this morning that she didn't propose to waste any words on me."

"Ah, you were in luck!"

"Not much! She didn't waste any words; she used every one in her vocabulary."—Newark News.

Never Heard This.

"Do my jokes ever tire you, Miss Willkins?" asked the young man who thinks he is funny.

"Oh, no," she replied, "but I get awfully weary of other people's old jokes that you are always telling."—Chicago Record-Herald.

One of Old Jilson's.

Old Jilson—One of my most trusted clerks got married.

Mrs. Jilson—I suppose you gave him a lot of good advice.

Old Jilson—No. He was married before I knew it—too late.—Cleveland Leader.

A Musical Evening.

Clarice—Shall I play you some Chopin?

Cousin Rebecca—No, don't play that; play "I'll be your honey in the spring-time."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Point of View.

"Two heads are better than one."

Well, yes.

I generally find that the saying's true.

Just take the case of a kiss—confess you think so too.

But let me tell you what's equally true—

You've been there and know there's no cause for laughter—

One head is a good deal better than two the morning after.

—New York Times.

HUMOR

ALMOST ACHIEVED IT.

Jack's Nearest Approach to the Hundred Per Cent Mark.

Jack's parents were ambitious for their offspring, but the offspring lacked both ambition and industry. Hockey and marbles were far more attractive to Jack than geography and arithmetic; consequently his father and mother had never achieved the desire of their hearts, which was to see their son at the head of his class.

As the winter progressed Jack's monthly reports kept pace with the thermometer in its slide toward zero. Mother was discouraged; father was wrathful. First bribes were offered, then threats were resorted to, but nothing availed. The end of each month always called forth the same scene in Jack's family—tears on the part of mother, the switch on the part of father.

Jack would seem to be overcome by remorse and promise better things for the future, but if skating or coasting happened to be good his resolutions would melt under the ardor of his enthusiasm for these sports, and the lessons would go by the board.

"Oh, Jack, why can't you get 100?" sighed his mother when his last report was presented.

Jack fidgeted, stood first on one foot, then on another; then he burst out desperately:

"Well, mother, I—I come pretty near it this month. I—I sat next to a boy that got 100!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Refused to Serve.

A Frenchman went to a brother member of his lodge and said to him:

"What does a polar bear do?"

The brother answered:

"What does a polar bear do? Why, he sits on the ice."

"Yes," said the brother. "There is nothing else to sit on."

"Well, what he do too?"

"What does he also do? Why, he eats fish."

"Eat fish—sits on ice and eats fish. Then I not accept."

"You don't accept? What do you mean?"

"Oh, non, non! I does not accept. I was appointed to act as polar bear to zee funeral."—Atlanta Journal.

The Exchange Habit.

"I took back those socks that wouldn't fit Willie."

"The ones you said you'd change?"

"Yes. And that odious Jim Crampton waited on me. He asked me how long I had kept the socks, and I answered about two weeks. And what do you think he said?"

"Give it up."

"He said I ought to change 'em oftener."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Of No Personal Benefit.

"That physician is wonderfully wise. No matter what your illness is, he can tell you the name of the germ that caused it and what will cure it."

"But I understand he is not going out of his house."

"He can't. He has a cold and a sore finger and a touch of dyspepsia, not to mention an attack of rheumatism."—Washington Star.

Wonders of Electricity.

Visitor From the Country—What would happen if I were to smash that electric light there with my stick?

Barkeeper (aggressively)—What would happen? You'd have a black eye in about a minute and a half!

Visitor—Gosh! Ain't that electricity a strange thing?—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Force of Custom.

The handsome young dentist slipped the diamond ring on the lovely girl's shapely finger.

"If you break this engagement, dear-est," he said, with a dreamy, faraway gaze, "I shall have to charge you for my time, you know."—Chicago Tribune.

The Book's One Good Feature.

"You have seen his book, I suppose. What do you think about it?"

"Well, there's one good thing about it."

"Indeed?"

"Yes. It's simply impossible to dramatize it."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Her Edict.

Guest—Madame, I'm thinking of putting up at your house.

Landlady (grimly)—Yes, sir; in advance.—New York Evening Journal.

Pleasing Day Dreams.

We see Pajpas the plumber sitting in deep meditation, a contented smile hovering upon his face.

"Ah," we venture gaily, "building air castles?"

"Better 'n that," he tells us. "Plumbing them."—Judge.

His Remarks Were Cheering to the Invalid

MRS. BARR, an elderly Scotchwoman, had been seriously ill for weeks, during which time even the members of her immediate family had been excluded from the sickroom. At last, however, she so longed to see her relatives that it was deemed advisable to admit them one at a time. When the moment for Mr. Barr's visit arrived the trained nurse cautioned him against showing too much emotion over his wife's changed appearance.

"What you must do," said the nurse, "is to cheer her up. You must tell her how much better she is looking, what a nice color she has in her cheeks and how bright her eyes are. Above all things, you must be cheerful."

Mr. Barr promised faithfully to say the proper things, but when he approached the bedside and beheld the pitiful ravages that illness had made in Mrs. Barr's once plump countenance he became so agitated that he forgot the nurse's caution and exclaimed in the rich Scotch brogue that strong emotion always called forth:

"Oh, Maggie, Maggie, woman, whaur wad ye like to be burrit?"

"Ye'll no get a chance to bury me this time, William Barr," returned the invalid, with unexpected spirit. "You're altogether too anxious."

It was afterward said that Mrs. Barr's rapid recovery dated from that moment.—Lippincott's Magazine.

One on John Kernell.

The late John Kernell, the Irish comedian, liked in his prime to go back to Ireland, whence he would often bring material, gathered in alehouses and on the highroads, that afterward served him well in dialogue upon the stage.

Kernell once said at a little supper party in Boston that he had met on a summer day in Galway an Irishman driving a horse so thin that it staggered as it walked.

"Why don't you put more flesh on that nag?" Kernell exclaimed indignantly.

"More, is it?" the Irishman answered. "Why, by the powers, don't you see that the poor creature can hardly carry what little there is on him now?"

Leap Year in Begtown.

"No, this is not a bargain rush. It is simply Willie Kissingbug's arrival in Bug House, and it happens to be leap year."—New York Evening Journal.

The Retort in Kind.

W. D. Howells, the novelist, seldom fails when any one has aimed averted on his complacency to come out with a neat retort.

When Mr. Howells was consul at Venice a very lean and long American said to him one day jocosely:

"If I were as fat as you I'd go and hang myself."

"Well," said Mr. Howells, "if I ever take your advice I'll use you for a rope."

Ought to Be Grateful.

Little Tommy, four years old, had just received a severe scolding and said:

"Am I really so bad, mamma?"

"Yes," replied his mamma. "You are a very bad boy."

Tommy, after reflecting, replied:

"Well, anyway, mamma, I think you ought to be real darn glad I ain't twins."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Two of a Kind.

"What would you do if you had one o' dese yer chokermobiles, dat stops when you wants 'em to go an' is so lib'le to bust things?"

"Well," answered Mr. Erastus Pinkley, "fun yoh description I reckons I could git jes' as much satisfaction by tradin' 'im off fob a mule."—Automobile Magazine.

A Windfall.

Mother—I have just heard something that you ought to know. Your father tells me that your husband is hopelessly involved.

Married Daughter—Isn't that lovely? Now maybe he'll make over all his property to me.—New York Times.

Wholly Chosen.

Mr. Short—"An I believe it—you will really marry me?"

Miss Tail—Yes. I always make my own dresses, and as we are both the same height you will come real handy when I am cutting and fitting.—New York Weekly.

Ventilation Not Enough.

"He's exceedingly candid and plain spoken. He doesn't care how he ventilates his views."

"No, but instead of ventilating them sometimes he really ought to fumigate them."—San Francisco Examiner.

A Bad Combination.

"I'm a lightning calculator," said the applicant for the bookkeeping position. "Then you'll not do here," replied the proprietor of the powder works. "You'd blow up the institution."—Detroit Free Press.

Reduced.

Griggs—Tungstoe doesn't

IT'S A COMING!

AMUSEMENTS

"A Thoroughbred Tramp" which appears at the Auditorium Thursday night, is claimed to be one of the best comedies on the road. The story of the play deals principally with the troubles and scrapes of the tramp, T. Rush Thompson, through the comedy there is a strain of sadness, the history of a wrecked life, a fall from fine raiment to the rags and tatters that proclaim him to be nothing but a tramp, a turn from the association of refined people to that of the class who beat their way from place to place drifting with the season. The play is a new one and said to be thoroughly entertaining from start to finish.

"THE RIVALS" FRIDAY.

The Jeffersons, Joseph, Jr., and William W., will be seen here in Sheridan's famous comedy, "The Rivals," at the Auditorium Friday night, Joseph, Jr., appearing as Sir Lucius

Joseph Jefferson, Jr., in "THE RIVALS" O'Trigger, and William W., as Bob Acres, characters that have been linked inseparably with their name. The Jeffersons are the most conspicuous figures on the American stage at the opening of the Twentieth Century; as they have been its greatest artists in the last quarter of the Nineteenth Century. There is something about the Jeffersons and their art that draws them closer to the play-goers and the general public's heart than any other actors ever drew. This is especially true of Joseph Jefferson, Jr., and William W. Jefferson. Their manner of life their all-around fondness for the ideal and artistic, the gentleness and sweetness of their natures, and the quiet and unostentatious way in which they continue to contribute to the glory and dignity of their profession, all recommend them as strongly as the heart, humanity and poetry they can put in their impersonations. The supporting company includes Messrs. John Jack, Guy Corbitts, Perry Flunnett, James Lewis and the Misses Follitt Paget, Blanche Bender, Meta Greene and others, all of the original Joseph Jefferson Company.

"THE BEAUTY DOCTOR."

Henriette Lee, the famous comedienne, who plays the part of the beauty specialist in Fred E. Wright's production of "The Beauty Doctor," has a "beauty lecture" which she delivers to an audience of customers which is said to be the funniest thing ever heard on the stage in many seasons. The result of her eloquence is the sale of all her patent medicines, and the effect these nostrums have on those who take them brings about a lot of side-splitting situations. The story of "The Beauty Doctor" is a broad satire on the physical culture fad, and is said to afford material for an uproariously funny comedy. The music is of a higher order than that usually heard in musical comedy, and the composer has turned out a dozen numbers of a genuine operatic stamp. The songs are bright and catchy and will be whistled and sung everywhere, particularly such topical hits as "The Lobster and the Mermaid," "Where Was Moses When the Lights Went Out?" and "A Little Bit of Jolly." There is a company of fifty, including a chorus and ballet of handsome girls who can sing and dance remarkably well. The feature of the staging is the new and wonderful electric lighting effects used in the big specialty numbers. "The Beauty Doctor" will be seen with the original company at the Auditorium next Saturday night.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the best and most popular medicine in use for bowel complaints. It never fails and is pleasant to take. Mr. R. Woolward of Rosslyn, Ky., says "I have handled Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for twelve years; have never sold a bottle that did not give perfect satisfaction, and it is the best selling diarrhoea medicine that I handle." For sale by all druggists.

DUCK SEASON

Opens at Buckeye Lake and the Sportsmen are There to Gather in the Birds

It is probable that by tonight there will not be a wild duck anywhere near Buckeye Lake, as the season for shooting them opened this morning, and it found a large number of sportsmen from Columbus and Newark on hand to enjoy the sport.

Many from Newark went out this morning but instead of going to the lake, went up along the creek and less frequented places on the reservoir.

As the great number of gunners in the vicinity of Buckeye Lake they say, will drive the game from there.

It is said that marble quarries as rich as those of Italy or Vermont have been discovered in the hills of Stevens county, Washington. The entire region is covered with a dense growth of lofty pines. The display of marble that Washington will make at the St. Louis exposition will astonish the world.

There are nearly five hundred Christian churches in Japan and over one thousand missionaries.

THE STORM

DID NOT INTERFERE WITH THE UNION MEETING.

Rev. L. S. Boyce Took Story of Naaman for Theme—The Public Invited to Attend To-Night.

Notwithstanding the storm of last evening, a goodly number were present at the union meeting at the Plymouth Congregational church. The interest was splendid and some present expressed themselves as deciding to love and serve the Christ. Rev. L. S. Boyce took the story of Naaman, the leper, and in a happy and forceful manner drew from it some wholesome and practical lessons for the people of today. These meetings are meaning to this city far more than most people think, and those who for any than the best of reasons are missing them are surely proving recreant to duty, to say nothing of a rare privilege. The remaining four nights of this week furnish the opportunity for every one to show where he stands relative to life's great questions. Those interested in the salvation of souls will be out tonight, even though it may be stormy. The singers who rested last night ought to be ready for every remaining service. Tonight the meeting will begin with a song service at 7:50. Christian Workers' meeting at 7:00. Come out tonight and do good. The Master calls—will you answer?

It Saved His Leg.

P. A. Danforth of LaGrange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg; but writes that Bucklen's Arnica Salve wholly cured it in five days. For Ulcers, Wounds, Piles, it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cts. Sold by Hall's drug store.

RUSSIAN PEASANT

Is a Nomad and Has Degenerated Morally and Physically.

(Harper's Weekly.)

The truth is that the Russian peasant, 100,000,000 of him, is under present conditions, slowly starving to death. His average earnings in the central provinces are 17 and 18 kopecks ($ to 9 cents) per day throughout the year; during the busiest harvest time they rise to an average of 27 to 36 kopecks (13 to 16 cents) a day; during the whole winter he and his family earn nothing. His diet consists of meal, flour and grist, cabbage and potatoes; no meat, except three times a year. His diet is insufficient, and less than in any civilized country. The hovel he lives in is two and a half yards long and one and one-half yards high, harboring the whole family and whatever cattle he possesses. These data are taken from official sources.

Is it a wonder that the Russian peasant has morally and physically degenerated? That the women are immoral, dread maternity, and given to a frightful extent to infanticide? That the men are nomads, leaving wives and children for months, often years, trying to earn something in town or in far-away districts? That the recruiting in these central provinces shows progressively physical unfitness for the army? That the health of the women is bad, and that the rate of increase in the population in this "black-earth belt" has dropped to 0.25 against 1.2 in the whole empire?

LOCAL WORKERS

IN SALVATION ARMY TRYING TO RAISE $100.

Public Invited to Assist in Undertaking—Annual Week of Self-Denial Begins March 27.

During its little less than twenty-four years of successful work in the United States, the Salvation Army has clearly demonstrated the fact that it has a specific and very important mission to fulfill in reclaiming the lost, rescuing the outcasts, lifting the fallen and ministering to the bodies as well as to the souls of men.

In fact, the Army seems to have a sphere of usefulness and philanthropy peculiarly its own in that its eminent temporal head, General Wm. Booth, and his distinguished son-in-law, Commander Booth-Tucker, leader of the Army's operations in this country, are enabled by their wise direction of affairs to follow lines of effort which no other religious and benevolent movement has ever attempted.

And now they announce their "Annual week of prayer and self-denial," to take place from Sunday, March 27 to Sunday, April 3, both dates inclusive, practicing daily self-denial.

These earnest and zealous workers are going in to abstain during this special week, from all luxuries and even from some of the necessities of life, that they may raise more money with which to extend the Army's operations at home and abroad. The sum $60,000 is the amount aimed at for the whole United States, and the local workers in this city are anxious to raise $100 toward this amount.

The public is cordially invited to assist in the success of this undertaking. Donations of any amount will be thankfully received. Only persons having authorized collecting books are eligible to receive contributions for this effort.

Don't fail to come and hear Staff Captain Boyd Thursday at 8 p. m.

OHIO'S GREATEST FINANCIAL INSTITUTION.

The Union Central Life Insurance Co., of Cincinnati, O.

Thirty-seven years of experience. Thirty-eight and a half Million Dollars of assets—desires to secure reliable men as agents. Address Charles M. Hoover, District Manager, Room 8, Kleek Building, Newark, O. Post-office box 463. 1-15t&f

MORE GOLD

Was Handled by This Man Than by Any Other Person in the World

New York, March 15.—Benjamin T. Martin, who has perhaps handled more actual gold than any man in the world, is dead at his home in Orange, N. J., at the age of 69 years.

For nearly 50 years he has been connected with the United States mint. He entered the mint service just after reaching his majority and had since been connected with the mints of Philadelphia, San Francisco and New York.

Twenty years ago he was appointed supervisor of the melting and refining department of the New York mint, and held that position until his death. The funeral was held this afternoon.

NURSING MOTHERS

"A richer milk than milk" is good food for nursing mothers. Scott's Emulsion is the rich cream of cod liver oil, and contains ten times as much cream as milk does.

The nursing mother must eat with the purpose of producing good, nourishing milk for her baby. A little Scott's Emulsion is often a very wise addition to her daily diet. If through nervousness or weakness her milk is a failure, Scott's Emulsion will help make it a success.

The baby gets the benefit, too, when the mother takes Scott's Emulsion. The same remedy brings new strength and nourishment to both.

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York

AS WE ADVERTISE SO WE DO.

EVERYTHING THAT'S GOOD IN DRY GOODS

SPRING OPENING

Of Ladies' Tailor Made Suits and Jackets.

JUST RECEIVED

A Complete Assortment of Ladies

SUITS and JACKETS

In all the latest Persian effect that we are showing at prices that please the most careful shopper. Come and look and keep posted on our carefully selected spring styles that are

ARRIVING DAILY

Not only in our cloak department, but in every department in our store.

Get Your Spring Carpets Here

Newark's Greater Store.

MEYER & LINDORF

We Give Sperry & Hutchinson's Green Trading Stamps.

We Can Save you Money on Rugs And Draperies.

CAST HIS VOTE

FOR ANDREW JACKSON WHEN HE WAS SEVENTEEN

William Jackson, of Somerset, Dies at the Age of 92—Was in Mexican and Civil Wars.

Somerset, O., March 15.—William Jackson, the oldest citizen of Somerset, if not of Perry county, who died at his home on West Main street Sunday night, was buried here today. Mr. Jackson has been failing in health for some time. He was a cousin of General Andrew Jackson, for whom he cast his first vote when but 17 years of age.

"I voted for General Jackson," he said in his droll way, "because his name was the same as my own and although I was not of age a few years did not make so much difference in those days." The grandfathers of William H. Jackson, the deceased, and of the Confederate general, Stonewall Jackson, were brothers. The granduncle, for whom the deceased was named, lived back of Maysville, Ky., and was an intimate friend of Daniel Boone. He served in both the Mexican and Civil wars.

Mr. Jackson was prominent as a musician, an expert actor and a good band instructor. He belonged to the first band in Somerset, organized in 1835. For a number of years he traveled with shows as musician and musical director. In his day Mr. Jackson was the true friend of many of the best known musicians and circus proprietors of this country. He was the friend of Ned Kendall, who played the bugle before the crowned heads of Europe. Another of his friends was Dick Willis, also a bugler of no small ability. Mr. Willis was a brother of N. P. Willis, the poet. Mr. Jackson has lived in Somerset all his life and is held in high esteem by the boys and girls who have been born and raised within sight of his house. Mr. Jackson was a cabinet maker by trade.

He is survived by several children and a number of grandchildren.

JERSEY.

Miss Harriet Condit of Pataskala, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. O. A. Pierson last week.

G. H. Berzer went to Columbus on Friday.

Timon Fainter of Oklahoma, was here Saturday, shaking hands with old friends.

Lee Thompson of Columbus spent Sunday with his parents here.

Mrs. Richard Williams and daughter Ella went to Newark Friday.

George Headley and wife of Union spent Sunday with L. C. Marsh and family.

Henry Zinn and wife who have been spending the winter in Florida, returned home Saturday.

MOVING?

If so, employ practical and experienced parties. It is the cheapest. Also carriers of passengers and baggage. All kinds of hauling done. Barn and office 54 to 58 South Third street. Both phones. 24-411

There is $200,000,000 worth of English money invested in submarine cables.

The bells of ancient India were her hair tied by a jeweled band two or three inches back of her head and then braided into an enormous ball two-thirds the size of her head.

CLARO
TRADE MARK

MAKES RICH RED BLOOD

Contains all the Curative Properties of COD LIVER OIL combined with Extract Malt, Wild Cherry and Hypophosphites

Sold by your Druggist with a positive guarantee NOT A PATENT MEDICINE

The formula is on every package. Easy to take and far reaching in its restorative qualities.

FOR SALE BY COLLINS & SON, DRUGGISTS.

SHORT LINE
FLORIDA AND NEW ORLEANS
QUEEN & CRESCENT ROUTE

CHICAGO & FLORIDA SPECIAL

Through Pullman service from CHICAGO, Big Four, and Missouri Routes; CLEVELAND, Big Four Route; DETROIT and TOLEDO, M. C. R. R. and C. H. & D. R.; LOUISVILLE, Southern Ry., to

Jacksonville and St. Augustine
Solid trains Cincinnati to CHATTANOOGA, ATLANTA, BIRMINGHAM, SHREVEPORT, NEW ORLEANS, JACKSONVILLE and ST. AUGUSTINE.

Also through Pullman service to KNOXVILLE, ASHEVILLE, SAVANNAH, and CHARLESTON.

Dining and Observation Cars on all through trains.

Winter Tourist Tickets on sale at reduced rates. For information, address

W. H. Burroughs, T. P. A. W. A. Garrett, S. M. W. C. Rinehart, G. P. A. Cincinnati

WM. J. SHIELDS, Jr.
Real Estate Bought and Sold.

ADVOCATE "WANTS"
Three Lines, 3 Times, 25 cents.

THE SHIRT STORE OF THE TOWN

'Tis by the reason of our immense shirt trade, that we lay claim to the distinctive term,

"The Shirt Store of the Town"

We know no concern gives the study of shirt fashions and making more serious thought than we do, and the result is a high achievement in the shirt business, not equalled elsewhere in our city.

Everything new in Madras and Genuine French Percales—both plaited and plain negligee styles—either attached or detached cuff.

See Our Window Display.

GEO. HERMANN
Leader of Fine Goods at Low Prices.

Prepared under GERMAN LAWS, is Excellent for RHEUMATISM,

Gout, Neuralgia, Sprains, etc.
DR. RICHTER'S World-Renowned "ANCHOR"
PAIN EXPELLER.

Now genuine without Trade Mark "Anchor."
One well-known person's letter out of many.

Brooklyn, New York, July 10th 1898.
On the strength of the wonderful relief I have obtained from the use of your ANCHOR PAIN EXPELLER I can conscientiously recommend it.

William J. Burdett, District Attorney, New York

25c. and 50c. at all druggists throughout F. A. Richter & Co., 214 Pearl St., New York

36 HIGHEST AWARDS.
Recommended by prominent Physicians, Wholesalers and Retail Druggists, Ministers, etc.